In the 60s was certainly about the Vietnam War. But not only about the Vietnam War, it was also about racism. It was about civil rights. And this from Sam Cooke, a change is gonna come here listening to a marathon edition of the queer music zone, this is music that is related to KPFT its history. And I hope it will give you a reason to pause and to think, and to contribute to marathon KPFT is history is long in rich and the volunteers that have worked here that has given their time, they are all deserving of not only your support, they are deserving of your financial support, as well. As I was saying earlier, this, this station has long been dedicated to the eradication of racism, sexism, all all the isms that you can think of. But I can't think of any song that discusses racism better than Marvin Gaye, talking about what's going on. The late, great Marvin Gaye, what's going on, I was lucky enough to see Marvin Gaye onstage in a sexier human being ever existed. I never saw them. Marvin Gaye walked out and women began to faint flowers began to show up on top of the stage. And he had not yet sung his first number. He could have pretty much smiled and left. It was just just an amazing performance Marvin Gaye, talking about what's going on. Once again, if you're just tuning in, no, you're not at the wrong station. And you're not at the wrong program. We're doing a special career music zone edition. Marathon music I guess this is music that's related to human rights, not just gay and lesbian rights, human rights. And that's what KPFT has been about. It's what has been dedicated to for the last 25 years, it is certainly deserving of its of your support, the number of you would like to pledge is 5265738 We will accept the pledge in any dollar amount. Now we've done a lot of serious music, and somebody's gonna say, Sarah has no sense of humor. Well, not exactly. And you know, even transgendered people have a sense of humor. And in case you don't think so, I present for your enjoyment Monty Python. Nice to see, you don't human rights doesn't have to be serious, you can occasionally have a little humor with it. I'm not sure how that fits in human rights, but I wanted to throw it in there for the QM z. So he did. Okay. All right. Let's go back to talking about this little bit. I want to talk about this next song. If you've ever seen Don Henley in concert, you've heard him talk about this as being his all time favorite song. It's my favorite too. Because in one song, he destroys the right wing, Christian fanatics and people who destroy the ecology. That's not free, what's not real easy to do, and he's managed to do it in one song. So we present Don Henley and the last resort. Put up a bunch of ugly boxes. Jesus people bought the rape of the ecology, California is told by Don Henley. No, you're having turned into the wrong station, you are listening to a very special que MZ. A salute to the folks into the issues. And to those people who have dedicated their time and their effort to KPFT. This is marathon. It's a time when we try to raise money for this station. Let's face it, this is a proposition. It takes money. But most of the people who are here are virtually all their volunteers. I'm a volunteer, everyone that's in the studio as a volunteer tonight. And in the 25 years that KPFT has existed. That's always been the case. They've been dedicated to the anti war. They've been dedicated to the ecology. They've been dedicated to feminist issues, gay and lesbian issues. This is the first radio program in the country produced by a transgender person for the transgender community. The only one in the country. I my dad KPFT deserves your support. The number is 5265738 This is marathon. We have volunteers here, we will definitely accept your pledges. Please give us a call. We've got one last song for the QM Z. And I saved it for last, because it talks about where we are right now. I don't guess it comes as news to anybody with this current election that the right wing has taken power. And so we say the last song is war with Bruce Hornsby in the range talking about defenders of the flag. Listen to the words of this song. And I think you'll understand why KPFT needs to exist, why we need your support, and why you should be helping KPFT remain on the air. Defenders of the flag, Bruce Hornsby and the range, I was told that my Rs sounded a little bit like Elmer Fudd. So that's the range. And that folks is the end of the QM Z for this week. Next week, please be sure to tune in, we will go back to our regular music. It just seemed to me like KPFT 25 years is something to celebrate. It's a very worthy accomplishment. 25 years. And I just felt like it was a good idea to salute the people and the issues that have kept KPFT on the air, and may we have 25 more. Okay, I'd like to talk a little bit about the show that we have coming up. As you know, the this, our portion of this rotating schedule comes up on the second Saturday night of each month. On the next show that we'll be doing for the transgender community, we're going to have a very special presentation. And that is going to feature Dr. Collier Cole. Dr. Cole is the director of the Rosenberg clinic in Galveston, it is a gender clinic. But more importantly, we were allowed to go in and tape the the women who attended his clinic this was at a special gathering. And we were given in an opportunity that had I don't know, I don't think it's been given before. So on the next program that we do with next month, you're going to hear transsexuals talk about their issues in their own voice. Not like Jerry Springer, not like Phil Donahue, not like any of these sensational shows. Instead, you're going to hear them talk uninterrupted. And you're going to hear them talk about how they knew they were transsexuals, how they came to realize how they came to realize what their life was about how they came to terms with it, and how they have survived. To my knowledge is the first time anything like this has ever been done anywhere in the country. I really, I sincerely hope that you will tune in for that. It is unique. It is we've really been granted a great privilege to be able to do that. And I hope that you will tune in for it. I also want to talk about the show next week, Jim Carper, a, you know, my co host, has disappeared and gone to Hawaii. Now I'm a short person and I would have fit into his luggage had he taken me, I would have fit in his carry on luggage I want you to understand. But I didn't get invited to Hawaii. instead. Next week, I'm going to be here with shishi. And as you know, Gigi is here from buying it, we'll be talking about some bisexual issues. In addition, we're going to have an interview with Scott Lewis is going to be taping with some of the folks involved with the Harvey Milk opera. And I also have a taped interview with John McNeil, a gay priest who was defrocked because he refused to end his ministry to the gay and lesbian people. So we have some good shows coming up. I hope you'll stay tuned for those. Again, I think that these are programs that are worthy of your support. And I hope that next week we will be able to get a better response in terms of some contributions. Now then, we have had a person in our studio, who has been making us crazy all night because he wanted to hear the Judy's. So folks, here we go with the duties. You know, when I'm in the shower, I don't think I sound that bad. That's the duties. Okay. I'm just going to leave it at that. I don't know there's anything more that I could say about that. Well, it's that time. It's time for us to start thinking about getting out of here. And You have been listening to after hours with Sarah dipalma and Scott Lewis and it has really been fun. This has been a unique This is my first marathon. Frankly I would like to have made more money but hey I understand it's a week after Christmas and Mardi Gras is coming in all that sort of thing. Tune in with us next time. This is after hours with Sarah saying good night in stay safe
