lifestyles lifestyles. Yeah, whatever you want to call it, like, like the polyamorous people, you know, maybe there are heterosexual polyamorous people, but you know, in the heterosexual world heterosexual community, they aren't accepted. SM B and D people, same thing, whether they're lesbian, gay, you know, however they identify who you're talking to. So I think that's why transgenders come into you know, we've talked about that before. Because bisexual, bisexuality, I think has a tendency, maybe because we do have this reputation of like, hey, anything goes. So, well, thank we also have a bit of a reputation. And that's not just here in Houston. But I think all over the country of being much more accepting of diversity.

Gigi 00:41

Jay 00:53

Yeah, well, that's what I kind of meant by anything goes I mean, you know, SM, sure, you know, will, as long as consensual, it's okay with us, you know, I may not personally want to do it, but I will let you do it. I'm transgender as well, you know, personally, I like the way I am. But, you know, you're more than, you know, I'm more than willing to let you be who you are.

Gigi 01:14

And I think it's such a new movement, too, in the sense that, you know, we've been the outcast from our world. And so we, you know, I know that, you know, all my life, I've kind of felt like, you know, I've been doing these Christmas, and Thanksgiving dinners for all the outcasts around that don't have anywhere else to go. And it's like, you know, to me, that's part of family of choice. And it's kind of reaching out to those that are that aren't wanted elsewhere, and seeing the gifts that they have. And that's kind of the beauty that they have, even though I may not agree with their lifestyle or exactly or want to jump in and do it. Sometimes I see some of the diversity and think, Wow, that's pretty cool. And I can admire it without partaking in it.

J Jay 02:08

Yeah. And I've heard that from a lot of bisexuals, not all but you know, a lot of people in the BI movement have said that, not just again, not just here in Houston, but you know, around the country and what I've read magazines and stuff. And so that's kind of what Tucker is saying. Or I should say the contributors in the book are saying that part of what the bisexual I don't know, if we have a bisexual agenda, part of what it would be to break down these barriers to say, hey, you know, let's let's kind of broaden our horizons,

G Gigi 02:41

I think we're still something of an underground movement. You know, we're starting to emerge to the forefront. But up until just recently, it's been something that's outside the media outside the mainstream, very hidden from the mainstream. And I think we're emerging slowly, the last five years. But before five years ago, you didn't hear much about bisexuality anywhere. It is growing by leaps and bounds. I mean, in certain subcultures, the norm is to say you're bisexual, to say something like, Well, I'm bisexual, even if you identify as heterosexual or homosexual to say, Well, I am straight, but I wouldn't necessarily rule out you know? You don't feel anything? Yeah, go. But you know, like the Neo gods, the punks, things like that these these certain little sub cultures subgroups, especially among the younger kids, too. Yeah. And on college campuses and stuff. I mean, it's and part of it may just be kind of hip and trendy, but hey, you know, if it gets the visibility out, and you know, removes the stigma, I'm all for it. Say, Hey, yeah, man, I'm bisexual, I'll, you know, go either way, or whatever. So again, it's kind of breaking down, breaking down some of those barriers.

J Jay 03:11

G Gigi 04:06

Let me Why don't we jump to some music. And then when we come back, we'll kind of do well, I want to see what she thought about this book as compared to some of the other books you've read. And done in the past. Sounds good to me.

J Jay 04:19

J Jimmy Carper 04:20

Okay. And later on in the show, or, of course, you can call in now with your requests for queer music at five to 657 3x 52657 only not been here for two weeks. And later on, we're going to talk about some of our great listeners who were there at the Wynn unit. And, and we're going to discuss brandy West. One of my favorite female impersonators. Right. hip out D ream. Peter Hakuna has finally come out of the class. it as a pansexual person, and we're so happy because he is a hunk Hola. And he does great music. And this is one of also giants you remember the finite number, then bring men number oh yeah

 Gigi 05:10

 Jay 05:18

by net question questions, you just want to call and say, Hey, our number is 4674380. And if we're not there, you can leave a message and we'll get back to you as discreetly as possible who, Ooh, that was good. During the little break, I stepped out and one of our crew here brought up an interesting point, and that is by sensuality, even though you may be sexually attracted to one sex or the other or both. I think we're all by central in the sense that we can have central relations with no matter who the person is. And that we all do. I mean, yeah, attractions, deep friendships. You know, I mean, hugs smoochies

 Gigi 05:37

 Jay 06:10

 Gigi 06:18

back rubs, those sort of things. nonsexual, of course, you know, platonic.

 Jay 06:27

But anyway, well, then, to me, it also kind of gets away from a lot of times people say, Oh, bisexual sex. So interesting. I mean, you're the ones were calling us, bisexuals and you complaining because all we talked about is sex. But anyway, so yeah,

 Gigi 06:42

I do talk a lot about sex, but

 Jay 06:42

Jay 06:49

some time by sensual, but also like sensuality. Yeah. But that takes the emphasis off the sex, you know, or something like that. And it's kind of interesting, because I did have a friend once. And everybody thought we were lovers because we used to take baths together in showers together. But we were never sexual. I mean, my little thing never got hard around them. I just wasn't attracted to him in that way. But we did have some very powerfully central times together. I mean, we'd sit down, take a bubble bath and soak each other out and rub down and it wasn't sexual, is just purely sensuality. And there's some magic to to sensuality that I think we often times overlooked, or, well, I think it's so tied with sexuality, that it's hard to separate it but when you can get just purely central that can be quite a wonderful experience in and of itself. But um, we'll see is the thing in our culture is they people don't distinguish sensuality from sexuality is kind of like you know, distinguishing foreplay from the actual act I guess although for some people especially lesbians foreplay quote unquote, foreplay is the actual act and more preferable to anything else. You know, there are some guys that just the foreplay just isn't in their vocabulary right it's like it's in and out and then wham bam, all over too quick.

Gigi 06:57

Jay 07:52

Gigi 08:14

Jay 08:26

But so you can be sensual without being sexual with somebody an important point to make

Gigi 08:34

How did you think bisexual politics compared to some of the other pics you've reviewed?

Jay 08:40

Um, it's hard to compare heterosexual to homosexual oranges you know? Um, well let's see what else I talked about on this show.

Gigi 08:52

It's by any other night a wide variety Yeah, by any other name by 101 Transgender warriors and Ken talked about that one which wasn't specifically about bisexuality but was about transgender she didn't she do very closely linked Kate Bernstein's back gender outlaw? Possibly. Yeah, but again, that was a

J Jay 08:55

G Gigi 09:16
has been to

J Jay 09:20
transgender issues more so than than bisexual issues. But we're

G Gigi 09:27
getting a signal

J Jimmy Carper 09:30
that means we have to mention oh yeah, this is KPFT Houston and ke O 's College Station. You're listening to after hours. Queer radio with attitude

G Gigi 09:43
90.1

J Jay 09:46
with Jane GED token bisexuals is that it? No,

J Jimmy Carper 09:55
token queer.

G Gigi 09:57
I haven't put my little sign up telling me all this stuff too. aside during the hour break, yeah, I never can remember all those numbers, you know me or those call my minds just one track.

B

Big Roy 10:14

I will some I want to bring up here. I had a call just a few minutes ago was an interesting call by the person calling about bisexual marriages and wanting to know if if bisexual could have a successful marriage. And I said, Well, it's yes or no. I said it all depends. I'm 46 I've known a lot of bisexual guys who've been married. Everyone that I've known, who's kept their bisexuality, a secret from their spouse had a miserable marriage, and every one of them ended in divorce. I've known a lot of guys who were upfront from the get go even while they were dating with their bisexuality, and they've had successful marriages. And so the key here, for bisexuality is well is for gay and heterosexuality. Be honest with the other person. If your marriage is going to start on a foundation of distrust and dishonesty, it's doomed to failure.

G

Gigi 11:21

Exactly one thing I think I need to clarify here a little bit is one of the terms we've been tying out and that's polyamorous and I don't think a lot of people understand what the term actually means. Basically, it's kind of like either marriage or a relationship but it's based not on where you stick what your plumbing goes or whatever. That's not the issue. The relationship is built on trust and believing in the other person and supporting the other person and nurturing the other person all the things other relationships are built on. But it doesn't have this kind of ownership of the other person's ability genotype genitalia, well, I mean you know your your biases are showing here darling memories basically essentially the same thing as non monogamy only in a positive light. You know, non monogamy is being defined as not monogamy, which, okay, technically is but that kind of makes it seem like monogamy is the natural thing and polyamory is not, or monogamy is the better thing that'd be like saying you have heterosexuality and non heterosexuality so polyamory is essentially what what most people would be calling non monogamy. Meaning you can have multiple lovers. You don't have to, but you can. And people think that you know, is Roy's question Can there be a successful bisexual marriage, people think automatically bisexual equals, you have to be polyamorous you have to be non monogamous or promiscuous, if you want us really loaded?

J

Jay 12:09

G

Gigi 13:05

And the answer to that question I know is definitely yes. Because I've met a lot of people at conferences all over the country that have been in long term, stable marriages. Sometimes it's just one on one marriage. Sometimes it's a three way sometimes it's a four way marriage, but where they become faithful in terms of the word to the partners, whether it's one or multiple.

J

Jay 13:34

Yeah, but even if we're talking about a traditional marriage, you know, one man, one woman, monogamous, faithful and to death, you know, et cetera, et cetera. Yes, there can be people like that, just as there are successful heterosexual marriages or successful homosexual marriages, although, of course, barring the legal aspect. And as Roy said, you know, if you go into it saying, Look, this is who I am, this is what I do. This is who I like. But, you know, just because I'm attracted to both men and women doesn't mean I have to have both. As one of the contributors in the book said, you can be attracted to both blondes and brunettes. But when you get married, you say, Okay, I'm gonna stay with this one person. That doesn't mean say your partner's a blonde doesn't mean you're gonna be lusting after every brunette you see, doesn't mean you have to have both a blonde and a brunette for a lover. You know, it just means you have the potential be attracted to those.

G

Gigi 14:31

I think there's a little bit of a I know for me, it goes a little deeper than that. I mean, I don't Well, I mean, you know, not I'm talking about some people he was saying, can there be a successful bisexual marriage? You know, and by quote unquote successful I'm assuming the caller was that was saying, monogamous one that will last and yes, it can be.

J

Jay 14:39

G

Gigi 14:55

I think that partly depends on the type of bisexual recall.

J

Jay 14:59

Oh, yeah. And but I mean, I was just saying you know how people always say bisexual equals non monogamous because of course bisexuals have sex with off there's problem men and women, which is not necessarily the case.

G

Gigi 15:14

It gets into the argument we got into one on a show quite a while back on can can there be such thing as a virgin bisexual? Or celibate or even monogamous bisexual, and bisexuality is a sexual orientation. Just like there can be a virgin homosexual, that knows their guy through and through. When you think about it, if you're just talking about who you did, then probably just about everybody in the world is bisexual if you want to get technical, I mean, there's a lot of straight people out there who, you know, got drunk and did who knows what or Gee, I'm curious or who's in jail, I had no other choice a lot of homosexual people who say, Hey, I'm homosexual. Now, maybe a lot of them when they were growing up, said, Okay, I got to try out this heterosexual thing. I'll date I'll sleep around, I'll get married. I mean, who knows? So if we're talking just that your orientation depends on who you do, or who you've done in the past. You know? I mean, come on, it's really more of who you're attracted to.

J

Jay 15:46

 Gigi 16:32

I think it's partly who you're attracted to. And I think it's partly also identify how you identify and I think it's also partly a spiritual base. It in that one gets a little sloppy to try to talk about. But I think the main point is, is that, yes, you can be a virgin and identify as bisexual. It's just as you can be gay and identify as homosexual. I mean, Virgin identify, yeah. Human anyway. You know, it's not who you did or what plumbing goes together. It's, it's the attraction thing. It's what you fantasize about, to sit around and find yourself. Like me watching boys or girls and girls, their goals, and they catch my eye all the time. Then, yeah, in a sexual way. I mean, if you found that you're only watching the boy Jake Olson, and fantasizing about it, and you know, chances are you're strictly homosexual.

 Jay 17:44

A WOMAN Yeah. But anyway,

 Gigi 17:47

but you know, the main point, I think, is that, you know, it's not so much who you did or what you do. It's, it's an orientation, it's, it's just like the name implies. It's what you're oriented towards. Not so much. What you're actually doing this manner.

 Jay 18:06

Exactly. Exactly. So that's kind of why, you know, bisexuality has such a broad connotation, you know, and it encompasses a lot of people people who are you know, 9% attracted to men, but there's a little bit who likes women or you know, 5050 or 7040 or 7030 Excuse me. Well, the idea so that's why it's so difficult to say this is a bisexual somehow

 Gigi 18:32

I think I got 9090 Well

 Jay 18:40

think it's 100 100 actually Oh yeah. I forgot about the part of you is tracking to transgender

 Gigi 18:51

Gigi 18:51

and then I do have some taste you know, there's some I don't like of course that's called Rush Limbaugh Pat Robertson. Where we get off the subject yet again.

Jay 18:55

Gigi 19:07

Oh, yes, of course. Well, you know, bisexuals we can never stay on track. Or stay on the fence or whatever

Jay 19:15

I want to be just speaking of that, you know, that phrase sitting on the fence. There was a one of the contributors wrote, let me see if I can find it. wrote in here an essay titled your fence is sitting on me. I just thought that was pretty cool. I think I see the bisexual float for next year. Like that, instead of I'm sitting on the fence, your fence is sitting on me. Anyway, we were talking about other bisexual books, weren't we comparing them and be how it's really difficult to compare the books I mean, you know, as I say, the first books I read excuse me, the by 101 books, you know, what does it mean to be bisexual? were really there for the purpose of validating experiences. Hey, look, I'm bisexual, and it's okay. And that was really interesting too. And by any other name, I mean, talk about a variety. Good heavens. I mean, there was the happily married bisexual couple, both the male and female man and a woman were bisexual. They were married. They were monogamous, and they loved it. You know? There's a whole thing about I am a married mom and monogamous, married bisexual. And then there was the leather dyke, Butch, bisexual, lesbian, I don't know, who you know, identified primarily with men, but wasn't transgendered, but she liked to, you know, it was great. I really liked her. So it was it was validating all the way around. And so it kind of was, here's an overview of what a bisexual looks like. And then this wide, wide variety, such diversity. So, you know, that was, I mean, again, you got to know what a bisexual is before you can discuss bisexual politics here. And then, well, of course, the transgender books that I've read and brought up that also is very closely tied to the bisexual movement, I think because especially I think once you become transgendered, I mean, you know, not having gone to the experience myself, I really can't say, but it just seems to me like, you can see the fluidity there. I think we've talked about this before gender fluidity. And what does it mean to be a man what does it mean to be a woman and you know, transgenders blur that distinction? Like there ever was, you know, bisexuals, instead of saying, Oh, man here, woman here, I think a lot of bisexuals see a little bit of male, a little bit of female and everybody and gotta go. And, and they talk about how they feel very connected to the masculine, feminine inside them and stuff like that. So the transgenders, and I think there is a close link between transgenders and bisexuals. And, and I'd like to bring up another point, that has always kind of been a haunting thing ever since I came across it. But a wonderful thing that I discovered, and that is that, you know, before we're born we all have the same building blocks we all come from the same exact stuff Blueprint born, we all have the same building blocks, we all come from the same exact stuff. Blueprint, it's, you know, in, you know, it's not until the chromosomes come into play that you start seeing a distinction between one gender and the other, or the other. And then the other thing, there's several genders that we haven't gotten into yet.

23:05

To recognize, yes.

Gigi 23:08

But my point is, is that we all come from the same basic stuff, you know. And I think that's one of the beauties that I've always kind of seen, kind of behind bisexuality, for me, anyway, is that both genders have so much to offer, but there's something that's so kind of keyed in and almost the same in both genders.

Jay 23:37

Both genders. I think, as you do it, there are more than two. Yeah, you know, what about hermaphrodites? What about people that either consider myself kind of one of those?

Gigi 23:46

Jay 23:50

I don't know what you are

Gigi 23:53

having a little bit about?

Jay 23:55

Yeah, actually, your discussion of that just makes me think of this person who used to be in by net. Oh, many moons ago, back when I first started. I started going as person kept insisting that everybody was bisexual. Everybody's bisexual. Because we all had a mother and a father. I said, No, wait a minute. Hello. That doesn't make any sense whatsoever. We're all bisexual because and I think I think even brought up something like that, that you know, we all kind of start off as generic. You know it, if you will. And then the hormones come into play and you become one or the other. So we all started out as bisexual and I'm like, Well, no. Okay, no, there's a difference between gender and sexual orientation. You know? I mean, it was just it was just really weird the way he kept saying that we're all bisexual female had a mother and a father. saying we're all bisexual because we all have two feet. What are you talking? Anyway, I just thought that was really bizarre.

G Gigi 25:00

Yeah, but I mean, there's this kind of key for me of, you know, no matter what gender we hop out being, we all come from the same building blocks of it. And that kind of gives a unity to all people I think. Yeah, that's a really neat and, and that's part of, I think my attraction to all people is that you know, part of me may be recognized as part of that. And even though I do love the diversity and the changes and that those little chromosomes do and makes little jiggles different it's like I can kind of sense a oneness whether I'm with a woman or a man or or a little bit of both for a little bit or neither or whatever I'm in bed with it's a watch out you say that whoever you're in bed with us.

J Jay 25:55

G Gigi 26:00

Okay? Excuse you know, it's just like, but anyway there's a beauty to it.

J Jay 26:10

Yeah, there's an underlying unity and underlying connection we all have

G Gigi 26:16

and I think that's part of what I feel is bisexual is getting back to this oneness of you know, I love you for who you are.

J Jay 26:29

Not for what to get between legs. Yeah,

G Gigi 26:30

of course. I love those things too.

J Jay 26:33

It's like icing on the cake.

Gigi 26:35

It's the icing on the cake. I like people with that I think it's time for low music break wait we've got another comment coming in here.

Kirk Keevert 26:48

Oh no, I'm just gonna I was just gonna I was gonna announce the music is what Oh, okay. It's this is from Ireland. The artists name is crazy. Jimmy Carper 28:25

Ooh, yes. How was going control and I want to publicly over the airwaves thank Glenn for filling in the last couple of weeks

Kirk Keevert 28:36

was here last week as well here last I noticed he was here when I came by and brought the brought the rock music and stuff to Sarah and didn't know if he

Jimmy Carper 28:43

Yeah, Sarah talked about Q patrol and about some s&m things.

Kirk Keevert 28:50

Cool. Let's see, I need to I need to I need to start doing the the I need to get involved with Q Patrol on like Saturday nights because I mean, I sit around my house and watch TV on Saturday night. Well, but tonight, I gotta say was worth it. Oh, it was diva night. Oh, Diva Las Vegas.

Bette Midler. It was It's big. It's big gay TV weekend. Is it? Oh, yeah. Because the absolutely fabulous movie. Tomorrow night. Right. Right. Right. So I got a bunch of straight people coming over to my apartment to watch it. Do we have the absolutely fabulous movie? Yes. on Comedy Central. Yes. Comedy Central tomorrow night, I think seven o'clock. Seven or eight? hour and a half hour and a half called the last shout to last shout. Yeah. So that. That will be very cool. Very much looking forward to that. We got well, I want to I want to thank so many. I'm sorry, from calling who are calling in. Thank you, Gary. He called in to say that he was glad that I'm better.

 Kirk Keevert 29:57

But we're all glad that you're better Jimmy.

 29:59

Oh, Yeah, we're all glad that you're Ben

 Jimmy Carper 30:02

Leo highway six at Westheimer. You know, he, it's my philosophy on life is what he said. It's like, I really like your show and wish for everybody to be happy. And these that aren't just leave us alone.

 Kirk Keevert 30:17

You know, I got to throw something in about that. With my, with my recent internet acquisition thing, yeah, I've been been been playing around in some chat rooms and different things like that. And the one of the things that just amazes me is, is you'll be in a in a gay chat room. And it's, it's pretty specific. I mean, this there's, there's one place called the chat house. And the gay chat room is the men's room. Surprise. And so you pretty much know when you go in there, what, what the point of the chat room is, it's, it's, it's gay men, some of them are posting pictures. So they're, I mean, there's a possibility that you're gonna see some some dick. But But mostly, you know, people talk and people tried to hook up people tried to do cybersex, or or maybe there's somebody you know, near them or something and trying to hook up or it's, it's pretty much one handed typing. Okay, okay. Okay. Which I haven't quite mastered yet. And, and really, quite frankly, don't have any interest in it. Yeah. It just takes way too long. Because you got to send a message and then he's got to send a message and you got to send them in and then you know, by the time you get to your pants on zip, I've come so I just eat I haven't really quite gotten the whole point yet, but the people that just amaze me that go in here are the bashers what they will there's another place called Oh, it's called guy chat No. In WBS web Broadcasting Services and there's something called is a there's a room there called guy chat is the busiest room but it says on the on the doorway before you go in guy chat equals gay chat. So you know, it's a gay room. 200 people in there sometimes, wow, do you want our guys in there sometimes. And you'll get these, these people come in there and start, start bashing. Start, you know, calling names and, and saying that you're gonna burn in hell and, and you F word dogs and, and your mother's and all this stuff. And of course, the first thing I do when I see people like that is is go down to the bottom of the screen, click on the Ignore buttons for that particular person or type their name into my ignore box. And I don't see their messages anymore. Good. Which is this, which is the easiest thing to do. Unfortunately, you got to put up with everybody else going? Yeah, we'll just because you got a little deck and and you're really you're really gay and and in the closet and done it. Well just ignore them.

33:10

One thing that I don't understand the IS is how can they compare a gay person to a dog? I thought that breeders you know, if I want to be around breeders, I'll get me a bitch and a male dog. I don't understand that at all.

Kirk Keevert 33:30

One of those things that just I just don't

Jimmy Carper 33:31

get it's it's

Kirk Keevert 33:34

so so and then

Jimmy Carper 33:36

it's like, I don't understand people who want to spend their time doing things like

Kirk Keevert 33:41

I mean what what the hell did they hope to accomplish by going into a gay chat room on the internet and sitting at their computer where they have no contact with anyone except gay people that will know they don't even have physical contact with gay people. They're not even seeing a gay person they're seeing something that a gay person says and that's all these gay people are doing is seeing what they say what effect do they hope to have I imagine if you were the fly on the wall you would see them sitting there masturbating. I have oh, I wouldn't surprise me at all. It wouldn't surprise me very much. But I just do the simple thing I ignore them and and it'll say Mr. Speed ignored on my screen. And that's a nice feature to have. Yeah. Oh, yeah.

34:06

Kirk Keevert 34:15

Jimmy Carper 34:25

Kirk Keevert 34:29

One more thing want to point out while we're talking about that after hours is officially on the internet. And I'm

Jimmy Carper 34:34
