you been listening to the BBC News Hour here on 90.1 FM. The BBC World Service is distributed in the US by AP our American Public Radio and is made possible by the Capital Group companies investing throughout the world for individuals and institutions. KPFT receives no funding for its broadcast.

Jack Valinski 01:03

For me, for Pacifica's KPFT in Houston, this is lesbian gay voices, a show for and about the gay and lesbian community. This is Jack Valinski, and I don't know where Deborah Bell is right now, but she's on her way. Tonight on our show We're going to have an interview with Kurt Kempner from Austin. He's an openly gay musician. He'll be here next week in Anderson fair, he has a couple of albums and CDs out we'll be talking to him. Also, from this way out, we have the second it's the anniversary of Harvey Milk's assassination on the 27th. We'll be having a piece from that, also in Jesus's name, from this way out. And of course, Mary Helen will be here with music. And we have a lot of other things we'll be doing tonight. It's sort of a holiday, get easy type of thing. But let's hear some music for from Kurt Kittner.

Deborah Bell 02:08

That was the music of Kurt Kempner from his Wrinkle in Time CD, which will be debuted in Houston. Next week at Anderson fair. Kurt is a gay male singer and geologists from Austin, and he's going to be talking to me Deborah Bell and Jack Valinski tonight about his break into the music scene because Austin's really known for its music thing, but I guess Kurt, you're one of the few openly gay male singers out there right now.

02:38

Well, and awesome. Sure there are a couple others but I'm certainly open about it. And the author seen as a real big lesbian singer songwriter seeing that but for some reason, there don't seem to be as many males as females in the in the kind of folk rock music genre.

D Deborah Bell 02:59

Yeah, I understand you actually had to be made an honorary lesbian. That's true.

03:02

Yeah, true. Because there's there's a bar up here in Austin called Kansas, which is really a great boss where lots of singer songwriters perform and they have one, several wonderful women, local women play there and, and women on tour, but I play there a lot. There's no kind of corresponding Gay Men's bar in Austin that has that, you know, features local or live music. So. So anyway, the the lesbian music scene here is very strong. And hopefully, hopefully, the more gay male singer songwriters will come forward to, but we certainly need more of the men's music, I think as well as what we have traditionally had available to us, from the feminist community in the lesbian festivals and like that your CD Wrinkle in Time, does contain two songs that can relate to the gay experience. One we just heard heart of the family, which is about a married man who comes out to his wife, and then later on, we're going to be hearing safe sex for you, but But I understand that not all of your songs have a political or issue oriented bent that they come from other aspects of your life as well, such as your being a geologist.

D Deborah Bell 03:46

04:31

Yeah. This is my third release I've had it's my second CD and I had a cassette out and and typically, there's been, you know, a couple of songs that that are related to gay issues or experiences just because that's certainly a significant part of my life and the experiences I've had, but But you know, more than anything, we're individuals and we do Even though we share being homosexual, there's a lot of other aspects of our lives that are completely different from one another. So, so I just write songs about the different, mainly emotional things that I experienced or go through or RC and other people. And then there are some things with theology like the title, track Wrinkle in Time is, it's about Copper Canyon, the train ride that goes down Copper Canyon and Mexico, which is an area I camped out for about six months, doing making a geologic map. And anyway you feel when you when you study the land for a significant period of time and learn how that land evolved. You feel real strong tie with the land and it's, it's about as close to religion as I get so high and also our place in it in that wrinkle of time. That's right. The human

D Deborah Bell 05:54

05:59

the perspective of human time compared to geologic time, it's, you know, it's on a different scale. And it's so a few humans have that perspective of how long the Earth has taken to evolve, not only the land, but the living creatures and and we're just part of that process, and we can't it's difficult for most people to perceive the whole process and, and house sort of time we've actually been part of it.

D Deborah Bell 06:34

And have music always been part of your life. Yes,

06:39

I have. Both my parents are classical musicians. My mom's to tell us in the Mexico symphony orchestra, and my father's a conductor back in Albuquerque. So So I grew up playing the violin. And they tried to steer me into a classical music career but but even though I love classical music, I always was moved more by popular music and love the guitar. And finally, when I was away at college, I got my own guitar and, and even though I'm much better violin player than a guitarist, that's where my real love of music lies.

D Deborah Bell 07:21

Now, you don't perform alone on your CD, I noticed that you have quite an ensemble of people. Now do you usually perform with a group or are you a solo performer?

07:31

No, I prefer to play with other people. And when for our our CD release in Houston next week, I'll have a stand up bass player Pat Whitefield, who's excellent and, and a guitarist Jim Brower, who is one of the best guitar players in Austin and neither of them are gay, but they're great musicians and, and it's wonderful to play with them.

J Jack Valinski 07:58

Do you tour much?

08:00

I don't I mean, I'm in school. I'm in the Ph. D. program here and at University of Texas and I really hard to split your time then isn't it as as very difficult this semester in particular has been difficult the the CD actually came out here in Austin this summer and I've waited until the end of the semester to do it down in Houston just because I've been too busy and so so I do find myself stretched a little thin at times, but but I really love music and if if I can ever figure out how to make a career in music financially, I would probably go that direction.

 D Deborah Bell 08:41

You were in Houston, I guess not too long ago and but you had something really unfortunate happened. Why don't you share with us a little bit about what what happened so gladly because we're still we're still really heartbroken. I had a friend who got married on October 9. And my partner and I drove down to be part of the wedding. I played violin at the wedding and at at the wedding reception which was at the Bistro vino around seven o'clock 7pm That night, sometime between seven and 10pm. We had a pickup truck stolen and the pickup truck had a camper shell and we have three golden retrievers that were in back that were that were also taken. So that was six or seven weeks ago. And to this date, there's been no sign of trucker dogs and we've been really looking hard but just haven't had any luck. So and I understand it as far as you're concerned that these can keep the truck but you're really concerned about your furry children right and their names are Blanca buckles and Austin and the postcard that was sent out to promote the album debut has these pictures Have these faces that are just, you know, so sweet. And I know you're missing these guys. And they they could have been left out and left to fend for themselves. They could have been picked up and taken to a shelter. Somebody could have said, Oh, these are beautiful dogs. Let me take them home with me. So you're really looking for the return of the three golden retrievers to your home. If people are interested in me know if they've seen them or if they have some idea about this. Maybe they could call a certain number what?

 08:51

 D Deborah Bell 09:43

 10:34

Sure in I have a brother in Houston, his phone numbers 88052915291. What's his name? Peter, Peter. Now if you if you have any idea about these dogs or the truck because it might be nice to get it back if that's possible, but especially the animals, please give Peter a call at 880529291 I'm sorry, nine one right at the end.

 D Deborah Bell 10:43

 11:01

But yeah, the oldest dog is 10 years old. And his name is Austin. He's very red golden retriever.

And he went I went to camp out in Mexico for six months. He was with me that whole time and he's been bitten by a rattlesnake. He's run into porcupines gunk, he's he's survived numerous encounters, he's including the Mexican immigration where he was, he was stuck for a couple days. But um, but anyway, we've had, we've shared a lot of experiences together. And I'd really like to at least make his last few years comfortable because he's already getting a little bit of arthritis in his back. So yes, I would really, that's what we're hoping most for Christmas is to find finder dogs.

 D Deborah Bell 11:57

Well, maybe it's a benefit at Anderson fair will help too.

 12:00

I hope so I hope people come out.

 D Deborah Bell 12:03

I think Jack has a question for you. Yeah, tell us a little bit about how you write your songs how you put them together.

 J Jack Valinski 12:05

 12:10

I am much more. I write my most of my songs. I write the music first. And I sit around usually by myself and and I kind of construct the song and the melody. And lots of times I'll just sing words to the music without having any realization of what I'm saying. But, but certainly the emotion of that music or what how I'm feeling is expressed. And eventually I'll happen upon words, which which will spark an idea I think when I kind of let my subconscious mind work in that process. I tend to say phrases or a few words that that express our follow the expression in the music, and it usually sparks an idea or a theme that then I then I start writing really consciously writing the lyrics to and that's a much harder process. For me. It's a lot more work and the music comes a lot more easily.

 D Deborah Bell 13:16

Anderson fair course has been the home of people like while love it and Nancy Griffith and you'll you'll be there next week. Now the postcard has a day and a date that don't mix.

 13:30

That's right. And I've corrected that since I'm sorry. So is it December second. It's December 2, which is a Thursday. That's right, Thursday, December 2. And that will be starting at 8pm over Anderson bear which is right down the street from our studios at 2007 Grant Street right over behind Texas Art Supply.

D Deborah Bell 13:33

13:53

That's right. This is tricky to find. So if you can find Texas our supply on was that Montrose right then Grand Street runs right into is right behind Texas art supply and proceeds from the show actually will go to the retriever rescue efforts and hopefully maybe by the time you're back in Houston, you can retrieve your pets and and it can just be a benefit for the group instead of for the animals.

D Deborah Bell 14:05

14:24

We've got one, we're we're going to put up a billboard for two weeks. In December now, most of the proceeds are going to come to pay towards that billboard.

D Deborah Bell 14:35

Well, thanks for being with us this evening on lesbian and gay voices. We're going to go here to hear your tune now. Safe sex and thanks for being with us, Kurt.

14:44

I appreciate your support. All right, bye bye bye.

14:58

He's talking about Safe Sex and that's from his new just to be released CD Wrinkle in Time, Kurt Kempner out of Austin, so turnout to see him December 2. If you get a chance, he'll be at Anderson fair December 2. And since we're in the vein talking about safe sex, well, let's keep it real safe with the rude girls. Jane, things are rearranged. Usually suffice. Rude girls are giving a very nice message out to you this evening on lesbian and gay voices here on World Radio 90.1 FM, this is KPFT in Houston. My name is Mary Helen and I do the music portion of lesbian and gay voices. And thanks for joining us this evening. It's about Oh 624 on the busiest shopping day of the year, and it's such a busy shopping day that even the traffic screen that we look at here in the studio is half full of traffic around the malls and telling the percentage that the parking lots are full and all that stuff and gosh, so of course tonight I have a little tribute to the world of shopping, some like it and some don't. And some are just downright addicted to shopping. Here's the therapy sisters

16:38

Austin's own therapy sisters with their version of good therapy. Just go shopping. And I'll tell you there must be plenty of people seeking that type of help today because well, they're they're just out there decking the malls and so you guys style those tea rooms now. Nevermind, just kidding. Hey, speaking of just kidding, Kate Clinton is going to entertain us here in just few minutes on lesbian and gay voices and Kate.

17:54

Because I had just talked to my sister and she'd had this conversation with her son, my nephew Paul, he's five years old and he said to her mom, can two girls have a baby? And she said, No, Paul, two girls can't have a baby, a man and a woman. They can have a baby chatters the old fashioned way. She said, But no two girls can't have a baby. And he looked at her and he said, but they can try right

18:23

I know I give it my best shot. I'm having my baby. Gotta remember to close the bedroom door the next time we visit there but but a weird thing happened to me. I was sitting at a mall. Weird enough. malls are terrible for people who have no sense of direction. Like myself. I mean, I believe that if you're going up a hill, it's north. Best we agree. I have no sense of direction. And I believe it's because I was raised a Catholic. And I went to Catholic schools and we didn't have driver ed. I mean, friends of mine, we get together after school and we'd have those little orange cones and we put them out in the parking lot and walk around them and go Well I guess if we had a car we'd go like this. No. I have no sense of direction it drives my girlfriend's crazy. I'm the kind of person who pulls into a gas station to ask for directions. If I win that argument asked for directions. Look at the guy's face, pull out and go. Did you get that?

19:32

19:41

Not popular. You know, here's the driving tip that I've learned if you're having trouble with your girlfriend driving along and you seem to be fighting a lot because she keeps saying things to you like I hate the way you turn your head. Perhaps perhaps one of the things you should do is whoever is driving the other person will lie down in the backseat. I love the show and I learned things about relationships. Isn't that special? When I go to a mall, I have to mark exactly where I come in. First of all, I know I'm never going to see my car again. But I go, Okay, I'm coming in by the caramel corn store. I buy caramel corn and drop it along the way. malls are terrible places. I don't know what it is. I go into a mall and I go into like the hetero consumer coma. It just glaze over. I don't know if it's the very negative ions in the fountain. Or the mall Zach. molars are terrifying. I actually think more malls were built in this country during the Reagan years than at any other time in the history of the world. I'm making it up, but I still think it's true. I actually think what we've been watching is the Disneyfication of the United States. Many of these things might be essays and not so much jokes. I can't tell anymore. Why didn't you do a paper about it? But I don't know if it's a show. But I think when Walt Disney died, his spirit went into Ronald Reagan. If you have trouble with this picture, George Bush as goofy and Dan Quayle is a kind of Mouseketeer gone bad. And Darlene and drag. You know, people are worried about what's happening in Central America. I'm worried about what's happening in Central Florida. So I'm in this mall. I've already lost my mind because I've been shopping. No, I am not a great shopper. I would rather have a sharp stick in my eyes and go shopping. I would rather shave my legs when I have goosebumps then go shopping. A shift in the front. Oh, it's true. And I'd been shopping for a bathing suit. You've had this experience. I didn't buy one of those tongs. Oh. They look like button philosophers. Do you know what I mean?

22:12

You got to have a buck for those things. And I do but I mean, I find that I'm attracted to women with contacts. In La they go we know people Kate we could talk know that. I find that if I can say to a woman, Honey, can you see the dresser? And if she says well, I know it's there. Then you know that in the morning you can jump up to make coffee with your big butt flying and they can't see a thing. Honey, did the wind come up? No. Maybe it's me. Yeah.

22:53

So I don't get one of those tongs. I get one of those bathing suits. Now why is it that all bathing suits are now cut up to here. And that is a pretty part of the body where the leg actually meets the torso. That's so pretty. I tried on one of these suits. I looked down it looked like an upside down map of Idaho. blue veins were the interstates and you go into these places you try these bathing suits on their sanitary places. We hope so you have to try them on with underpants on Gosh, that's pretty so you put these bathing suits on. You've got big white Carter underpants flared out the layered look in a suit honey, I'd never thought of it. That's great. And I made the mistake of going in to try one of these suits on and I invited a friend of mine in and she walked in she took one look at me and fell down on the ground laughing I had no idea what she was laughing about. Because I don't know if you're like me, but when I try something on it doesn't really matter what I'm trying on. And I'm in one of those mirrored triptychs. All I look at is my head

24:14

I like my hair today. I really do.

24:23

So the weird thing that happens is I'm sitting here in the mall and I'm doing one of my favorite

So the weird thing that happens is I'm sitting here in the chair and I'm doing one of my favorite things, which is what I call random nurturance of heterosexual women. It's kind of fun. We will look at the couple that's walking along and it was a big girl going along a couple kids behind them and they're crying. They're like on the other side of a sugar high and they've got maybe saltwater taffy magma pouring down their face and they're like and then behind them is the woman. This is random nurturance of heterosexual women you look at him and you go Oh Honey, I'm so sorry about your with him, Bob. A beautiful man. I I'm sure and you've got the kids, they're nuts from shopping, you've got to take them home, you've got to feed them. You've got to bathe them all by yourself because he's got to be in his chair, and then you're going to have to get in bed with him. I like to sit there and think whoa, I have made the right choice. But I'm sitting there and the strange thing was that this young girl came up to me by the fountain and she was about 12 years old sort of Heather ish. And she comes up and starts to talk to me and in the course of the conversation she says that she believes that I am her mother. It could happen you create the world you invite the people in 25:54

I believe that she is by softball left child could other softball people are going Oh, right. That thing? Yeah. Well, do. Let me tell you what happened. Can we stop? You seems to be the question.

26:13

Disney and I have a lot in common. We're like the home of fun fascism. You will laugh now and you will have a good time about it. Good. You know, but I'm not a theme park. yet. I think you're tall enough for this read? Why don't you come here?

26:32

So what happened? Thanks. Thanks. hit your button before you shout out. You almost won a new T shirt. Isn't that great. So what happened is 12 years ago, I was on a softball team. And we had won our first game in two and a half seasons. Because my team was more into process than competition. Do you know my team, I was played third base and a ball would be hit over my head to the right or left field behind me, I'm not sure. And behind me, I would hear this voice go. I really want to catch this ball. I have the skills to catch this ball. I believe I've worked hard and then next to her right here. I support you in your effort to catch the ball. Open your eyes. This was my team. So we win our first game in two and a half seasons. And we go out to celebrate by eating great quantities of fried food and drinking a lot of beer. Although we did that after every game. To me, that was the whole point of softball. So there we are at the Broaster hut. Do you ever do this where you're with somebody and then finally you see them. Especially after a lot of beer. I look over and I see our shortstop for the first time. And our shortstop was on the Wisconsin State Championship team for three straight, consecutive consecutive seasons. She had an uncoiling side winding throat at first that would make you faint she was a hot dog. That's what my dad would say to me when I go to the house you don't be a hot dog which to me is an anatomically incorrect warning. Don't be a peach pit.

28:27

This woman was a peach pit. Oh, she was kind of a musky, musty smell. I was on third base. She was at shortstop. Sometimes if the wind was red, I would practically hyperventilate on third. And she had a but on her serve, but I'm home Hi. Well anyway. Well, one thing led to another. And so we're having bloodwork done, and I'll know soon if it is in fact my softball love child, and I'll be sure to let you know the hilarious voice of Kate Clinton here on lesbian and gay voices of 90.1 FM. My name is Mary Helen, thanks for tuning into us tonight. I hope that we can bring a smile to your face this evening on a little bit about shopping. And maybe you like shopping. Maybe you don't. I mean, I personally do like to shop I like to shop in the mail. In catalogs. I liked it. I don't really like malls too much. But you can definitely catch me in any of the stores where you can drive up somewhere close to the entrance. I mean, occasionally I will venture into the gallery but Oh, well. Some kinds of shopping are better than others, of course. And well here's what Lynn Ladner has to say about shopping as well as oh a couple other topics. I think she might cover pretty well here. Lynn lavner

28:55

29:52

Oh, not long ago, it was my pleasure to emcee the leaping lesbian follies in Denver, Colorado where that is an annual show, I think they've been doing it for almost 15 years now. They advertise it as a musical review into unnatural act. And it's really wonderful. It's an all amateur show. And they just bring in one professional entertainer to kind of emcee and perform a little and pull it together. And when I got there, I was really impressed because it's a totally woman production. Women book, the entertainers women do the performing the tech stuff, the stage stuff, the advertising and promotion, everything about it's a women only event. And so just to be amusing. On the night of the show, there was some 500 women there. Somebody took down the restroom signs, and replaced them with signs that said, Butch and femme. You have never seen the collective nervous breakdown. No one knew where to go to the bathroom. Women ran out into the bushes, women ran up into the mountains, women exploded in the mezzanine. It was not a pretty sight. And so I realized that this is kind of a problem in some areas, you know? And actually, they'll tell you that the ideal couple comprises a soft butch and an aggressive fem. That's what I've been told. And it's true. If you go back through history, that's Romeo and Juliet, George Burns and Gracie Allen, Warren Beatty and Warren Beatty, and we break couples, but, but I tried to talk some sense to these women who were having such a problem and taking it so seriously. And I said to them, Well, the way that you can tell which restroom you need to go to. I said, Well, if you look in the mirror for 20 minutes in the morning, you are a film if you look for 20 minutes in every mirror that you pass all day, you are a butcher.

bushes, bushes will not go shopping not under any circumstances except of course for sneakers. If a Bush has 27 pairs of sneakers that will not stop. Hey, you like these with the pump? Only $340,000 I mortgaged my house. Sims femmes will get out of a hospital bed to go shopping. Right? They like to go shopping for their book. They'll come home and they'll say Honey, I got you a wonderful shirt today. But is the book grateful? No. The books will look at her feminine say before I already have a shirt. But fans love to take their book shopping and make the book sit outside the fitting rooms with all the straight husbands. I have been in this position. It's embarrassing, by the way to be a five foot tall Butch. Because you find yourself saying things like your woman Reach, reach down to Shredded Wheat, please. But you sit outside and no wouldn't you think if you're allowed to take five things into a dressing room when you think a fan would take five different outfits. A femme will take the same outfit in five different sizes. Maybe a six eight or 10 or 12 or 14, maybe it's long and the hips big in the bus short and the waist long the shoulders. You're schlepping this stuff back and forth and back and forth. It is a tremendous misery but people outside of the lesbian and gay community they don't have any problem with this. They subliminally understand Butch and femme as a concept. When I play a certain town where my my lover has a very elderly and we take her out to dinner, she will invariably give me her coat to hang up. I can't reach the hook doesn't matter. But But even in the most unsophisticated circumstances. I'm driving home from rural Virginia. Big out of the way Virginia coming home on tour one time we stopped at a little motel wasn't even a Motel Six is like a motel four and a half. We go in the Redneck husband is sitting down he's got his feet propped up on the desktop and on a toothpick. His wife is in the office she's running around doing all the work. She checks us in we find out from her where to go for dinner. And then just as we're about to leave with our key My Lover says to her, by the way. Is there a mall or something around here in case we want to take a walk later with that the husband spits out is too thick, puts his feet down on the floor looks right at me and says if there's a place to go shopping, they'll find it won't they?

Kind of makes you feel safe.

34:59

Lindland nerve from her latest CD out there. Bucha Patel that's Lin lavner. From a live in concert performance and her explanation of pitch and film. You're listening to lesbian and gay voices on 90.1 FM. My name is Mary Helen. Thanks for tuning in. Stay tuned for Jack and Deborah coming up. Oh, about seven o'clock. They're going to have some, some news items and some maybe some juicy tidbits for ya hope. Comedy speaking of comedy. Did you hear the one about the farmer's daughter and the other farmer's daughter? Oh, well, I didn't either. But I'll tell you what, if we could possibly watch televisions first all gay and lesbian comedy special. It's going to be December 3 at 10pm on a station called Comedy Central problem is we to get it on our cable television. Maybe I'm not paying enough. Maybe that 4050 $60 a month that I'm shelling out to Warner just isn't enough to warrant them carrying Comedy Central. If you don't get it. Why don't you call your cable company and complain or put it on the little survey that they sent out anyway. The first all gay and lesbian comedy special is going to be out there. And it's called out there December 3 at 10pm. It's going to be hosted by Lea de Leiria with performances by Suzanne Weston Hoffer, Marga Gomez standups Steven Moore, Bob Smith. These are funny gay males. It says here in parentheses, Palma Afro HOMOs and Jewish lesbian folk singer Frank among others. If you're not out of the closet, get an extension cord and the TV should reach right in there for you. So Comedy Central, the only all comedy cable channel is going to have a a gay and lesbian comedy comedy show but looks like here in Houston. Well, we get to miss out on it. Thanks to the wonderful service that we get. Well, at least you can pick up KPFT 90.1 FM and there is this little ol gay and lesbian show on it. And it's called lesbian gay voices. And we are heard every Friday night from six to 8pm. Why don't you join us every Friday night at that particular time and see what see what's good. See what's happening. See, see what it is. Hey, Dolly Parton. Did you check out her interview in the TV Guide. She warns rumormongers against pursuing that hurt presuming that her close friendship with a woman means she's a lesbian and she wonders why it's such a damn big deal. And she discusses a variety of topics but she dismissed rumors that she and Judy Ogle are anything more than Best Friends quote. We have done everything together. But not that. She said she's closer to ogle than she is to her husband but insisted that she's not a lesbian. But what would be the big deal if the rumors were true? There are a lot of gay people in the world she said I'm just not one of them. Why is it that they have to dirty every beautiful thing? She refused to say whether she'd ever been unfaithful to her husband I don't blame her. And but she said she'd had wonderful relationships with people of both sexes and says that sex and love are two different things and Dolly right on sister and keep up the good work and she's always been one of my favorites and personal personally I don't care if she is or you she ate because you know dolly she's a talent you know she has a talent like what like for sure I don't know maybe listen to a little of that talent brought about now some people just don't have a very good sense of humor as all I gotta say. Maybe they're just not Dolly Parton fans. Maybe that's what the deal is. Yes, this is Dolly Parton doing the great pretender if you don't believe me well, it's it's dolly and drag someone called me up and told me that that sucked.

o

o

41:51

How rude. Does it suck

42:20

okay, it's it does suck. But you know, I mean, this is the holidays. And if you can't suck during the holidays, when can you suck? You know? I mean, I'm tired of playing music that doesn't suck. You know, I think it's time to play some really sucky stuff. And hey, at least it got a phone call. So hey, if you're, if you like it, or if you don't want it, you give us a call. At 5265738 Let us know what you think about the show. Every now and then. We'd love to hear from you. Here at the station. Always ask for Donna. Or you could ask for Deborah Bell or Jack Valinski. No problem. We'll be here. We'd love to hear from you. Oh, I think he's on the phone right now. 5265738 is our number. We always appreciate hearing from you. And oh, if I knew how to put this call on the air I do it up. answer that phone jack see who that is calling up. We're gonna go to some music something that I really like, by man this I mean this is real music by man named Ted Fox. I hope that you truly enjoy this one. I mean, it's really real music actually run to a one

o

44:05

don't know what so I just don't know what to say. My forehead anymore. Because you heard I wouldn't you know? You know I tried to be funny the first time and then I put on a tape and it really is sounding like that. Okay, so we're gonna go to a compact desk and maybe that'll maybe that'll clear up our problems a little bit. Here's the flirtations ba ba, ba ba, ba ba boom, Bob. Bob. Bob who's a four? I don't know when he falls. nobody's a fool around here either. They're just having a gay old time tonight.

44:28

44:46

44:57
