01:00

I see. And we're

01:03

gonna use music bearers kind of our transitional piece. He's going to lead us from the for factor story songs to a little bit of an anatomy lesson.

01:14

Oh I'm scared Oh you

... I'm scared ... you

01:16

should be. Remember, ladies and gentlemen. If you're listening to the program, and you hear these music sounds that kind of offends you. You're listening to dead air. My name is Sandy. I dare you to call me

01:32

out. Anyway, so

01:35

it's time now for that wonderful little anatomy lessons we're gonna give you

01:39

Yes. Starting with a non queer group.

01:44

Wow, now I got the first one. I think you're gonna We've only played to women's three, three women so far. Actually, for me, it means I've done a lot than usual.

01:59

So let's go with gay Biloela.

02:04

Something like that JJ biloba from the uppity blues women Sapphire. But this is her solo CD. Baby ovaries baby. And guess what? The Anatomy Lesson only goes downhill from there our tribute to anatomy class started at all off with in a way it's only a wee wee by muscle bear.

02:13

02:24

Music bear I'm sorry. It was kind of the bridge between for and body parts. Yes. Yes. G'day, Adiga balibo

02:49

Gay a dig below law and 02:52

whatever. Big ovaries baby it's 317 In the morning I don't know names. Big overs baby DaVinci is notebook with enormous penis pansy division ring of joy. Yes, striker pop you in the pooper yet. Super Eight come shot is the former name of the group I forget what they are now. With everyone loves a muscle boy. Here we'll talk about muscles in general not just I

03:26

see. I see that those 03:28

are tribute to 03:29

body parts to body parts. Of course we could have played candy cane. Oh, you can eat and you can eat it all night long. Maybe we'll get there maybe.

03:43

Yeah, I

03:44

mean, you gave me Jan as well recognize any of the songs on there. Oh, are you kidding? Never play anything off of that. Anything to love somebody. Is that on there? Oh, okay. I'm sorry. To love somebody. Work at work me Lord.

03:48

04:07

I am familiar with Janice. Oh, okay. Is there I just didn't see. See you on that. I recognize.

04:14

Okay. Great letter.

04:17

I was raised by a hippie.

04:19

Yeah, no, I know, at Haryana

04:21

was asked and then when it fell out. So dishes. Yeah. So those Ling's got a great letter from Jaime. Yes.

04:27

04:31

What with the catalog go

04:33

with the catalog. Yes. prevail sport assets. Paul, let me see his catalog was working on its bathing suits. So it was Paul's. He misses the show because he can't get used to it being on Friday nights and I guess the guys can't stay up all night Friday. Like they can't on Saturday. Or MBBS. Once you know He especially misses the music and all the guests and interviews and I just can't live without it. So starting this Friday I'm gonna load up on coffee and sugar and start listening to every show again I've got to have it be careful with the sugar that'll make you crash yes

04:36

04:42

05:20

thank you very much for the nice catalog as a matter of fact he's that he enclosed a lot of the microphones to see what I got when we got this in it's in a brown envelope I thought it was some artwork and sure enough it was yes

05:35

perfectly sculpted bodies

05:39

I guess the rainbow ish they couldn't put a bikini brief on there I call it rainbow stripe they

05:45

Wow Hey Jimmy one of my paintings is on the 37 cent stamp@www.zazzle.com ZHZZL e the title of the painting and stamp imagine World Peace

06:04

cool I'm

06:05

gonna go look that up soon as I get home or you can look it up right now if you got a screen

06:11

it's kind of their W zzz

06:15

Le com Imagine World Peace let's see what we guys working on coming up here. Oh it could be one of the things there are yeah, there's this new thing where you can put whatever you want on a stamp. Oh yeah, we can have Jimmy Carper stamps so you can have customized stamps yeah

06:28

06:44

06:46

anyone that want to lick those but you know

06:48

they're self adhesive

06:50

Many men have licked my stamp

06:53

your stick them imagine World Peace

07:04

space in there sees that oh

07:13

imagines bass worldspace piece

07:20

Oh, that's right. Sometimes this this keyboards pregnant. Yes, folks, you too can hear the sound of waiting for things to download on the radio. It's not coming up behind me we'll have to look again and see on there but

07:23

07:29

07:37

like I said it's one of the I know one of the things if you go to some websites you can put like that we can put Jimmy Carper on a stamp.

07:46

Who would want to Well yeah,

07:49

the smoking gun went to this thing once they send a whole bunch of pictures and to see which ones would be approved the Rosenthal's Oh my were put on a stamp. They even use a high school yearbook photo of Ted Kaczynski.

08:04

Oh, my goodness. Unabomber.

08:08

Monica Lewinsky's little black dress. Well, let's turn a search of all products. Oh, well, just stamps. Yes, dear. You will go ahead and talk about your ambush.

08:18

Sure, sure. I have. I was over at one of the rental places in the Montrose and I noticed there was an ambush. And that's the magazine for the southeast. And it has Pensacola Navy, but it's primarily New Orleans. And I was like thrilled to see that they had pulled it together and put out a thing because we've heard so many awful things about neurons and what has happened there. And it looks like the gay community is really bouncing back and they have all these wonderful first hand accounts of how people dealt with it when they evacuated, what they witnessed, you know, with their own eyes, and then there's lots of fun things like you know what the golden lantern has did Katrina blow your skirt up? Welcome back to the home of Saturday. And then, boy, the boys are back dancing nightly on the bar, you know, and so it's just I don't know, I just it really did my heart. Good to see. You know, that people are some people are back in New Orleans and then they're the whole sense of having fun. And the whole party spirit of New Orleans doesn't seem to be completely dampened. And that's that's that's good news. No matter how you get it. Yeah.

09:33

Well, they're already talking about that. They may not have the full Mardi Gras event, but I heard them talking about having a carnival.

09:43

Yeah, well, that's the first thing my my younger brother who loves Mardi Gras was saying it's like they'll have something there's no way that New Orleans is not going to have some kind of monitored Mardi Gras no matter what condition the city's in.

09:56

Now. I know I heard how that I wanted to you I told Are the stations that the warehouse that housed all the Mardi Gras floats had been flooded out and everything was destroyed? The exact opposite is true.

10:10

Well, in the first place, they're not all they the amount of floats and parades they have. They couldn't all be in one warehouse anyway.

10:17

The major ones supposedly, yeah, but that Fox News report was was false good. Those floats did manage to come through pretty much unscathed, just like the rest of the French Quarter. Yeah, cool. All right, for being in New Orleans, and I'll come back like not even a week ago. They're just not letting people back into New Orleans. But you have to be able to have to prove that you live in New Orleans, Stephen King in it. And they just finally opened up like the French corner to the public, like to any Mojo that wants to go in there. But it was pretty bad. I was out there for a month and it was under martial law. You couldn't they were working. Yeah, it was working. You couldn't go into certain parishes without, you know, passes. You had to go to FEMA get passes to go and like,

10:32

11:01

Well, they probably wanted to cut down on 11:05

whatever. There's a lot of time you couldn't be out of your house and your front door after 10 o'clock. Wow. could go to jail.

11:10

So what were you doing there?

11:11

I was actually working. Yeah, I was doing, actually everything. I was trying to go work for a company called I want to know if I could say it. Jimmy. Hmm. Could I say the company? Yeah, I was working for a company called hydro Chem. And I was Yeah, and I was running around all the plants trying to fix them back up and blasting all the gunk that got thrown on the side of him from where did you get to stay? Actually, I stayed with some friends that lived out there. I follow them out there. Miss Aidan parodies and St. Charles Parish was about 24 miles from New Orleans so bad and they they live 24 miles and then there was trees, huge trees ripped up by the roots. I mean, and that was just like the lighter side of it. And I drove into St. Charles Parish and got up towards New Orleans area and man it was just there's no doubt that ravaged Yeah. And during the job market was just through the roof. I mean, everybody was hard. I mean, there was I mean, it was hard not to see a place that didn't have on now hiring sign Wow. And I just I mean, she didn't my wife went out there and got a job the first time I walked out there got like 20 job offers. I mean, minimum pay starting out there it was like 1550 an hour. So I mean, they were hiring bad because most of the left did come back Yeah, but the living conditions must not be too great conditions suck Walmart for the first time in record history closed at 5pm Wow. I mean, close.

12:19

12:23

12:31

I don't know if that's a good that might be a good thing.

12:34

12:34

Walmart closed but it's so bad that they had to monitor and only let certain people at a time in there WAS lines lined up down the side of Walmart. I mean, I wanted to buy an air mattress because I didn't have a mattress sold out everything tent. Everybody needs everything.

12:48

12:51

I mean everything was sold at you if you got if you had to be like the first one on the door so the night crew could restock. Or sort of the door you might get some but if you came in like like noon

13:00

so I mean but work is going on in the city is it is is gonna is gonna come back by the time I left. They were supposed to like that weekend, they were supposed to put Walmart back to 24 hour. Everything was getting back to normal. I mean, it was just like boom, boom, boom, everything in a month. Everything just went right back to normal. So let me ask you, why did you leave work?

13:06

13:16

13:18

I mean, I Yeah, job and it was good money. No, no,

13:21

come back here.

13:22

Why did I come back here? Oh, came back to visit and some problems happened. And now I'm here. Okay. Good. So I'm back. Okay. But other than that New Orleans is great.

13:38

As long as your black guy coming down the street, what was pretty cool about FEMA, how they did all the things but the houses is the way they graded the houses whether you go in, they put a green, big ol Green Dot sticker on your front door, pretty much that means you're free to come move back in your houses say they put a yellow and pretty much like, you know, enter at your own risk. You get hurt. It's your fault. They put a red one don't even enter. Wow. Wow. And that's how they did it. And you know, you dropped into walls. You see all these green stickers and yellows and red all over the place. And of course, the ones that looked like they just got hit by a tornado had a red sticker on it. There's a door left. Yeah. You know, it was pretty cool. I mean, it was an experience.

13:44

14:16

The nice thing is that the death count was is not anywhere near as bad as well.

14:23

Yeah, well, you know, and I was thinking about it in a way. After all, it's almost like the Gulf Coast and Biloxi is worse off. I mean, because communities are just gone. Oh, yeah. It's a friend's family lived. You know, my parents lived in Waveland. And it's just gone.

14:43

Well, I mean, my ex landlord, who was from New Orleans, his family is still there. He's, he said he's got three cousins who are now living who were living in New Orleans. And all three are there houses were demolished, and his brother lived in Sly Dale and had a house up on stilts. It's gone.

15:11

So yeah, well fit when FEMA was there. They were actually anybody who evacuated period and had proof like they got a hotel or had family members. They got $2,000 per person. Like, wow, and then I mean, yeah, but when you need everything $2,000 doesn't go, does it? Does it reimburse you for your house is like one lady I was talking to right before I came back. She was like, Yeah, everything was fine. And I came to my neighborhood. I've walked everyone off the coastline, or like the whole neighborhood's fine. There's some solid trees. All the house was set up, I get to mind a walk around the side of the house, and there's a yacht sitting in my house. Only house in my neighborhood.

15:23

15:27

15:49

Well, you know what, when one thing, one thing I was talking to a friend earlier about was there was a guy from New Orleans who was raised there, and he's now in Houston. And he was saying it won't be the same. And I said, well, but it'll still be New Orleans. He says, Yeah, but it won't be the same. I said, Well, you know, America is still fairly young. Our cities are relatively young. When you think about oh, no, London's London has burned to the ground several times. It's been rebuilt. Still in New Orleans, and Rome has risen and fallen. Yeah. So much older than America.

16:25

16:27

Yeah. And the whole idea of a city being devastated and somehow it's not going to be the same city. No, it there's an essence to New Orleans. That won't go away. That's right.

16:35

That's right. 90 100 storm came back. Yeah, yeah. But 16:40

it took 100 years, till it

16:42

came back. Cisco after that earthquake at the turn of the century,

16:46

people from New Orleans it's a different world

16:50

it is a different world over the life. People here at Euston are really like aggressive and mean, you know, and I can't drive down. I can't drive down a block in new in Louisiana without everybody waving at you don't you know, I start walking to the store. And 17:05

it was a great place. Hey, Jason, how's it going? What you need to say? But the other thing is, in New Orleans, there's a mixture of the Catholic religion and the voodoo. Yeah. And it's a given. It's a given. And it's also even while it is Catholic, it's also wild and free and open and lots of sex and lots of bars. And yeah, and there's no age limit for bars and the Catholic you can be you can be eight years old and go into a bar and guess right now the Catholic Stuff is like it's a lot of them. There is very Marian I mean, it's very cult of Mary too. So it's not it's a softer, yeah, Catholic Catholicism. It was a wonderful place to grow up. I grew up there and it was a great place to go through puberty because it means that they have Mardi Gras.

17:07

17:09

17:37

17:54

17:55

Yeah. For a Houstonian like me to walk in a corner store and there's bottles of liquor sit on the counter. I'm like, wow. Yeah, you looked over the corner slot machines and poker machine and they just like bars don't close. They don't close

18:07

18:11

10.11

the bar at four or five o'clock in the morning, there's still a house full of feature. Yeah. Wow. are way different than shuts down or, you know, I was talking I was talking about I was talking about how when I was growing up, my people would come to visit my parents and they'd go to like the mayo my club out and like punch tray, which is a drag club. And it was nothing for normal semi conservative, regular married couples for a wonderful evenings entertainment to go to a drag but you know that it wasn't the prejudice a strong?

18:19

18:43

Well, it was marketed it because it was New Orleans, I think they could get away with one right. And the myoma Club was marketed towards the straight audience not the gay on at all. It was marketed. Yeah,

18:57

like for Nokia is 18:59

the same thing. That's right.

19:04

That's gay history. For those of you that don't recognize those names, they would also tout the fact that there are so many of their female impersonators were married. Oh, you know, of course that's BS, but then they were married to a nice lesbian. Yeah.

19:07

19:22

19:27

Then like a good shame marriage to you know, the parents. Yeah.

R

Roy 19:32

Well, you know, earlier this week, there's one famous television Vangelis Merica, stick his foot in his mouth all the way up to the hip again. Again, he says that

♂

19:46

Katrina was God's wrath. Gods pay back for the sin in New Orleans especially.

♂

19:54

Gotta be Pat Robertson. No. I

♂

19:57

was saying, you know if God wanted to Well, hey, if God wanted to punish us, he would, he would send FEMA. And if we didn't behave after that, then it said Pat Robertson the first to the fact that he they're saying that, you know, Katrina was God's God's wrath on, you know, the, you know, the homosexual festival and all that that was going down and going on down there and just the decadent lifestyle in general. I mean, if he was if he wanted to punish the gays and lesbians that attended the southern decadence, why didn't you have the hurricane hit during? Yeah, come on. Now, when? I mean, how I mean, how ignorant Are you? I mean, like, it was a punishment for what are they gonna do? They're gonna it's gonna tear it down. And they're gonna come back next year once it's rebuilt.

20:11

But you know, what my basic theory about the whole thing in terms of you want to get spiritual, but is that I think that 911 happened, and there was this opportunity to join the world community. And then it was immediately politicized. And it was like terrorism, terrorism, be afraid, everybody be afraid of each other. And everybody sort of froze. And then this natural, these natural disasters have happened, and it kind of blew the doors off and people rediscovered that they needed to help each other. You know, and it I think it opened people's eyes, you know, to a certain extent, I think it opened people's hearts because you can't politicize it. You know, you can't make a you know, Bush was being a big daddy, we're gonna spank those terrorists. If they don't behave well. You can't make a hurricane behave. You can't make major behavior hurricane, you know, and I think it's opened people's hearts and people aren't quite as afraid of each other as they were before all that. Okay.

21:36

David, you had mentioned that you had a copy of the ambush. Yeah. That's the monthly newspaper of stuff going on in Louisiana, right for the GLBT community. And you were mentioning that quite a few of the bars said the advertised Hey, we're open. Yes, yeah. Yeah. ambushed when it also had read some Yes. It was all it's centered in New Orleans. But it's covers the Gulf Coast. They have section in there for Houston, had sections in there for Dallas and Florida. It was a very normally you know, it's probably about half the thickness of the Houston press. Yes. And here's here's one is reduced size, you know, this little voice to the, to the shame. And here's, here's one from the Phoenix bar, where we'll be back fellows, the staff and owners of the Phoenix stand with the people of New Orleans and the Gulf South, in mourning the losses we have all suffered losses too great to bear, and those many smaller losses, which when piled one on top of another, also become too great for any one of us to stand. But we are not any one of us. We are many and we will bear this together, not alone. And together, we will rebuild we will build each other's homes. We will rebuild each other's businesses we will build each other's lives New Orleans shall rise again. Shoot all this raisin and rebelled and is surely gonna work out one hell of a thirst. Well, folks, you can just so there's the colors of the bar. Yeah, on the human end of it's more it's gonna be an I mean, another 911 not politically, and not physically what do you mean all means there was not as great a death toll as in 911. But it's gonna give us that same sense of togetherness. And it's gonna bring people in a different way though. Because I think 911 When the way it was immediately politicized, it really made everybody suspicious and afraid of each other. And this if it has made people look to each other for for help, homes are gonna get built real fast, rather than depending on the government bluebird constructions, I think it was called out there. They just got like a $34 million contract, building houses and will buy my wife's best friend's boyfriend was the grandson of the people that own it. So I talked to the guy personally, he's like, Yeah, I just got like a $34 million contract. I'm about to build, like, 6000 homes. And he's like, I gotta do this in the next like, two years. So things are really gonna start man. He's like, I'm one of like, 350 contractors. So he's like, he's like, I got like, three or 4000 crew under me. Yeah.

21:55

22:24

23:12

23:28

23:45

24:15

Well, you know, but what's going to happen? One thing I have seen, though, and I want I think it'd be good to keep an eye on this is there's a lot of plans for a lot of middle class housing, but there's no plans for low income housing. And that, you know, that that thing about there, they're using that as an opportunity to get all the poor people will say, Yeah,

24:40

I mean, the Ninth Ward was completely wrecked by storm. Yeah, there's nothing less.

24:46

And there was a thriving underground art community there as well. I mean, besides just the poor black people, it was also a thriving, really vital art and music scene. You know, there was a middle class To the Ninth Ward Oh yeah, right right.

24:58

25:02

They also have the radio stations up out there and there's a nonprofit organization it's got like the nonprofit organization out there I don't know which one it is they have like five radio stations all on five different channels same station and they were talking give it

25:18

they really do something very drastic with delete with the lobbies, Levy's wherever Yeah, let's do some very dragged down that Ninth Ward will continue being even though when it gets rebuilt. Well it will be it will be low income because they won't be able to get right middle and upper class people to move into that unless the grade raise it like they did in AR

25:39

25:41

and they won't they I saw a thing on the news about that and how people are really sort of freaking out because they're rebuilding it but they were building exactly the same because and they gave us they're saying there's not the money and even when we had the money it would take blah blah blah years. So yeah, it's it's absurd the whole it's ridiculous. But so is New Orleans. So there we anything fun on the internet. Chris. I'm going through some of the news stories here. Yeah. Pulling up the survey they had here survey on Survey says sevens landmark gay lesbian consumer study. What? The while I pull up the actual one here top five cable networks viewed by the GLBT population in the last week. HGTV No, bravo. No, it's not a surprise on their

26:08

26:40

Desperate Housewives A and E lifetime.

26:43

Lifetime. Live booty Lifetime Television for women and gay men of the week movie.

26:50

26:54

a&e Discovery Channel lifetime, HBO and CNN. Oh, wow.

27:02

HBO figures.

27:06

Let's see. Trying to hear okay. That's it. That's it. Ah, they talked about this whole. Okay, let's see it was 27:21

I guess probably have to do is you have to buy the thing from them. Great. Well, that's my

I guess probably have to do is you have to say the thing. Well yeah, that's my buying power $60 billion. The GLBT population is drawing increased attention from advertisers and marketers. GLBT adults are more likely than the total adult population who have participated in the following activities in the last 12 months. dined out at a restaurant. Oh, yeah. Not fast food. Cooked for fun. Yeah. No. attended a live concert. Yeah, no. Yeah. attended it. Last week, her show.

28:00

Went to a dance program last week

28:01

gone to a nightclub bar or dancing?

28:04

Yes. Yeah. Not in a long time. GLBT

28:07

adults are more than more likely than total population to enjoy buying new gadgets and appliances. Upon their accolades, be the first among their friends to the latest electronic equipment. No, no, get the electronic products they want regardless of cost. No. Say their friends ask their advice when buying electric equipment. Yeah.

28:30

That all depends on the their income level.

28:35

You see, here's the thing, which is that for so long, I've been hearing this myth about how wealthy you know, gay males are and most gay males that I know are just as churchmouse poor so yeah, you're right. There are a lot of borderline. Yeah.

28:51

28:59

Anybody here at roundtable

Anybody here at roundtable

29:06

Anybody here at roundtable who will go to a club that has a 10 or $20

29:14

That's right. No,

29:15

we made we use

29:16

40 books

29:19

especially especially young gay people don't really generally have a whole lot of money now

29:24

I'm with the other full standing in line waiting for my free admission over se

29:33

TIME FOR FREE really.

29:36

Then you leave at one o'clock and there's still a line out the door. No, it stopped hours ago.

29:41

No really so me as a gay men and women that I know. Work very hard, very long hours. are very uncomfortable days. So many of us are going to work when so many others are coming home from work. You know, a holiday call depends on what type of work you're talking about, you know, Pablo, prostituting

29:59

30:03

a long time ago so a 30:06

day's worth a day's work is still a day's work no matter what time it starts.

30:12

World War Two. Yes, Chris. That's something from PFLAG NFL commissioner Paul tangley abou and his wife were honored by Peeth by the New York chapter of PFLAG parents, families, Friends of Lesbians and Gays, with the 2005 Stay close individual leadership award. Part of it is because Paul Tagalog who gave a sizable donation to PFLAG as Paul tag, LuBu son is openly gay. Drew tag Lea boo, because he played tag drew play tight end wide receiver

30:44

30:58

and anyway,

30:59

the st. Close campaign has had a program has print advertisements featuring famous people and their gay relatives including Cyndi Lauper and her sister, Ben Affleck and his cousin Jason. All right, so he's got some gay genes. Rosario Dawson and her gay uncle.

31:29

She's great.

31:31

And Paul, the tech lead who spoke at the dinner for his love of drew Andrews partner, Mike Mark Jones from Australia.

31:50

Making This Up Now

31:53

you can find out more about out sports.com which won their case in the we were being sued for because they put a picture of somebody who raced in an LA Marathon. And the person said that, you know, people are gonna think he's gay because his picture was on a site geared towards gay athletes.

32:13

God forbid.

32:13

So he won his case that was so out sports won the case, which was argued on Bravo TV.

32:22

Shouldn't be called.

32:24

I didn't know Bravo TV counted in court.

32:27

Really what Bravo TV was doing, as one of them did a reality show based on the law firm. And it was some high powered lawyer out in Los Angeles, who was finding legal associates. And so it was elimination style, you argue the case. And basically what you're it's it's similar concept like with what they do with Judge Judy, and all that you're going into a binding arbitration. And so the people who argued in favor of out sports won the case for them. Yay.

33:01

Good, very good.

33:05

A new gay magazine has been launched called Mara which which is the language of in that language for the word out? It's a quarterly magazine for gay Arabs. Wow, oh, Lebanon's are gay. A Lebanese nongovernmental organization hellam, which fights for the rights of homosexuals has begun publishing bada. And this was reported in the Lebanese daily slate. It's a free space for all gays and lesbians in the region to express their feelings of social oppression and stigma. Jen, Lebanon, a relatively moderate Muslim country, hosted the International Day Against Homophobia last day. Wow.

33:48

That's a big break. That's really something 33:53

in Islam, that they don't look too kindly.

33:56

In the Arab world, homosexuality is totally prohibited, both legally and socially. It's considered a sin against God as unacceptable behavior. Homosexuals in many Arab countries are harassed even jailed. If traced none of none of Abraham's descendants. Various descendants seem to like homos too much. Oh, yeah. I mean, there was a story of the the trial recently gave ⌚ 34:20

34:09

⌚ 34:15

to not as many ⌚ 34:25

spoke and mayor had pictures of a gay man on his city computer.

⌚ 34:30

I called the police punish

⌚ 34:31

you here is about to launch a reality TV network. Okay.

⌚ 34:36

Oh, I got two people talking at the same time. Hmm. Let's have him talk for a moment. So I didn't I mean, you at least have headphones you could hear he was talking. Something was kind of you know, how funny it would be depends on who you are. But you know, Saddam Hussein, you know, and in some countries out there they cut your hand off if they find out you're stealing. When they find you having sexual another man, I catch her head off. They cut your head off the penalty. Like cash. They kill you. The penalty is death. Yeah, it's steep

⌚ 34:46

⌚ 35:01

⌚ 35:09

Sundancer. Yeah,

35:11

it's pretty biblical.

35:12

You'd be getting the ultimate head wrong

35:20

okay, you go now sorry now

35:22

that he's brought the conversation to a screeching halt

35:28

No, I see where Fox is launching and reality network hear anything about this? No. Yeah, it's already been launched called Fox reality. Yeah, I was downtown Thursday morning. And they were passing out like poetry magnets or something that promote the new network. Yeah, you have to have satellite cable to watch it. And they they basically they're, they're, they're paying or other. I mean, they're showing not just ones that were on Fox dish showing other television. They're getting as many there I saw the last time I was over to friends that had that station and was watching it. It was a marathon of Last Comic Standing. Oh, boy.

35:31

35:35

35:43

36:02

And then I was like, "Well, I'm gonna go home now." And then I was like, "Well, I'm gonna go home now."

And what does this what does it that have to do with nomos?

36:06

Well, there's a lot of gay people in the reality I mean, oh, that's true. In 36:11

reality, they are 36:13

all homosexual. You're right.

36:15

You know, that's probably true in terms of MTV and then the other shows the reality shows probably have gotten Middle America used to sort of regular gay people survivors

36:27

first winner was Prince Machiavelli Richard Hatch

36:34

on a recent show, we Well Excuse me, sir there were with original show. I mean, he introduced himself as the the fat naked, fag.

36:43

Well, and somebody else I forget somebody famous was saying that they that he's their favorite reality show gay person because he's so a typical. He's not all prettied up. He's not all this. He's just this regular schlub guy, you know, who was like, trying to get everything you can out of it. And I sort of see what they're what they were saying, you know?

37:04

And then, you know, he runs into trouble between me between the IRS Oh, yeah, hitting that, too.

37:09

37:09

I mean, it just goes to show sometimes there's not that much difference between straight people and gay people.

37:18

But, ya know, there was a lot of the a lot of us in the reality. That's why I'm surprised with logo, you know, there's so many different shows that they could have. Right? Yeah. Called from the Viacom family. Yeah, I liked it. Everyone wants to know, you'll see some of the reality. I was teasing before about the one MTV show they do called date my mom. Where, you know, you, the guy would have to date the mother of this girl who wants to say, well, they've had gay versions. Wow.

37:52

Yeah, I've actually seen one. It's weird watching after a day male. Yeah. Wow. And you know, it's a little weird watching these guys who they're going out with a woman. And then when they come to the get to the end of it, it's so kind of hokey that they usually find this, this beautiful scene across the beach, or they're on a hike. And the guy steps out of a limo limo pulls up that has the, the three guys in it. And their mothers are the normal view the women, and the three mothers will be there, and the guy sit and say, well, I won't. I don't want to date your daughter or your son because of this. And then the person steps out of the out of the limo, and on the gay when they pick the most shallow guys. So they're going Oh, my God, I can't believe I gave up that.

37:59

38:12

38:15

38:45

One on the show, one of the one of the guys moms that she actually got a tattoo on the show when she went on the date with the man in question. And I'm like, why the heck would you do that?

38:59

It's you know,

39:01

why the heck do people do most of what they do?

39:03

You know, it comes right down to 39:07

Earth reality. It's, you know, it hasn't been the real world really is one that set the standard for oh, yeah, yeah, for not just reality television birthdays, you know, visibility world had to token homosexual and started bringing in, you know, the one or two to kind of liven it up a little bit.

39:18

39:28

Nowadays, it's, you know, it's, yeah, unfortunately, it becomes a form of Vladek forming logic that they, I think, but they ended up doing with this last season, when they did it out of Austin. They really didn't have an openly gay character. That's right. Yeah. I didn't say any of them. But, you know, the thing it was the the soldier, the female soldier, you know, she supposedly in her interviews there, says she, you know, she was bi curious. So, you know, they kind of pumped it up at the beginning. I Oh, we're gonna have We're gonna have a soldier going down one way, man. I think every guy's house do you hook straight guys, you know?

40:06

40:09

Yeah.

40:11

But now it's you pay him money. I've seen some I said hook not pick up. Well, who can pick up? Come on? You're speaking language that has multiple meanings through Yes.

40:25

Well, you know, I mean, it's sort of, you know, reality shows and getting people getting used to gay people and people are getting used to gay people. And I mean, it's not related. Exactly. But I have to just say, you know, George Bush's looked at the paper in the New York Times today, it's at 38. It's even lower than it was, I am so thrilled. Karl Rove has to go through masses of reporters to leave his home. You know, it's starting to look like how they harassed Clinton at the end. So I can't help but have some feel sort of warm inside that, you know, there's a little bit of payback going. Or maybe, if we're lucky, three years, months, would you know, we're talking about all these different game shows? I can remember back in the early 80s, when a very tame movie called making love. Yeah, sure. There was at least three to four months promo on that. And every gay and I mean, people in the gay community were just like, so excited. Oh, beside themselves, and it's not bad. And today, that movie would be considered so mild. Well, it was groundbreaking because it was the first there had been underground gay movies and independent like small budget things. And they always it was it was the first No, not all of them.

41:06

Roy 41:08

41:38

41:50

A person committed suicide. There was by that time, there were some that weren't that way. But but this is the thing landmark about that it was the first mainstream when with name stars that were big Hollywood stars. Yeah. And that's what was so groundbreaking about Mark Hamill. And I can't remember the other guy. Yeah, I can't remember either. He's a lawyer and one of the TV shows now. Why can't wait why can we not always remember the other guy? I mean, you have the you have a person who is the star of the show. And then there's the other guy. The other guy watch more TV. I can tell you his name. Somebody who watched a lot of TV could tell you his name.

41:53

42:12

42:25

42:31

Some of us then really?

42:35

Maybe we need some more TV watchers to come and be on the program.

42:38

Oh, you somebody in the couch potatoes. Oh, couch potatoes. They're not moving. Now. Okay. They're couch potatoes. They don't move. Click Click. dial tone gentlemen.

42:51

Yes.
