SPEAKERS

Jason, Jimmy Carper

00:00

I get all the time. And in this is one I have a friend who's, you know, in what I would consider just not a very good relationship. And I told him I said, you know, I have no doubt that y'all have have love for each other. I said he noticed that it's apparent, I said, the things you liked our friendship, you know, honestly, all that stuff, and one that everybody always seems to forget. And all it was the wayside is respect. You got to do respect. I mean, I mean, not just perspective, I mean, respect their things, their belongings, their, their feelings, their idea and respect yourself. Exactly. I mean, you can't you mean, especially when you're living with somebody, that's, that's a big thing. I mean, you have to respect their boundaries. And you know, and, you know, if you're living with somebody, respect the fact that you if they have to get up at six in the morning, go to work, you know, don't come wandering in the house at 3am from a club, you know, and expect them to be okay with that, you know, unless they're just a big sound sleep, right. You know, it's just respect to the whole thing.

But also, you know, you said, you know, the, look at those two people know that they loved each other, you know, one of the things is, you know, but you always have to remember is, Love isn't itself is never enough, exactly, and love will grow, love will grow, anywhere you give it a chance, whether it's healthy or not. The The difficulty is to you know, nurture and grow the right kind of love to, you know, develop, you know, together as like people. And also remember that you're not two halves of a person coming together exactly. two completely separate people coming together as a unit.

01:26

Exactly. Okay, well,

01:28

since we're on that subject, and it seems, you know, and it is the most important thing is to be the friend before you become the lover. Well, well, you can develop the friendship after you have become lovers. That's just an important point, too.

01:37

01:44

How do you cross the how do you divide that fine line between friendship and being a lover? How can you cross that boundary? Without hurting your friendship? Ask y'all this question. If you're really good friend with somebody, okay, Ronnie and I, I'm gonna use this as an example. Have been a we've been really good friends. And we went three months without talking. And now we're good friends. If you're really good friends with somebody friendships, he'll, it'll last it is and you know, and so why? Why do we have such a bad stigma on dating our friend? Yes. I hate when that when our friends are the ones who we are we emotionally bond with, we know that we're, we're similar in enough ways to truly accept each other for who we are. And we know that this person is so why are we so set against dating our friend?

Jason 01:54

02:35

I don't know. I think people are always afraid of I mean, I mean, you know, I'm a firm believer of I think, I think I think your friends is really a good idea. I mean, cuz like I said, you know, you know, I mean you you probably know that person, the best and I mean, and if your friendship is strong enough, it's strong enough to begin with for any reason, if you break up if if you stay friends, it was strong enough and if you don't stay friends, it wasn't strong enough and it wasn't your fault. I mean, it was bound to happen whether you dated or whether it's an extra car, I mean, to call you back one of the things to remember is a friendship will last longer than a an emotional entanglement, you know, like, you know, a love a relationship, your friendship will survive that breakup if you had a good solid friendship to begin with, you know, and I personally, I really, really agree for an example I'm gonna use myself with Brian who is like the love of my entire life but he's also my friend and you know, this my friendship with him has survived God you just I mean, you would never ever know how much it's gone through but you know, still through it all still through you know, the feelings not being returned and you know, go into the rejection and all of that we still remains really really close friends and I know that he would do anything for me. As long as I would do anything for him. We just can't be together I guess for one reason or another. And we can't cross he doesn't want to cross that boundary between friend and friend and lover.

03:03

03:18

04:04

04:07

Well, but then you still crossed the other bound anyway, we won't go there because they're not gonna well, but there's the difference between friend and lover is going to be really different from person to person to person. From from pair to pair.

04:12

04:21

Okay, well, how about friends with benefits?

Jason 04:24

I would like to remind everybody if you have any comments or would like to talk with us, give us a call at 713526 KPFT which is 713-526-5738.

04:41

Amanda one of you is listening out there called 100 people.

04:45

I know y'all have a fun night in Amish alright, but I'm about to start.

Jason 04:49

I'm sure you all have. Y'all are probably as equally opinionated as we are. Exactly. I don't know some of us are extremely opinionated. Not. Not that I'm the one but Yeah, thank you. And

∅ 05:01

J Jason 05:02

that's up to it. I've got some very big opinion and problems.

∅ 05:07

But all back to the relationship deal. I guess.

J Jason 05:16

I just personally, I just personally feel that if you're able, I mean, if you're able to maintain a friendship with someone, then y'all been through some rough times and your friends and you're good and bad, you've been able to maintain a friendship, you know, and, you know, and I'm guilty of it, too. I'm just as guilty as everybody else I have not, I don't date my friends, I day, I go to a complete stranger and say, Hey, you want to go out? And then we start going out? I just don't understand why we do this. Because I know that, my friends, I've got friends who, you know, would be perfect for me. And but we just know, because we don't, we don't want to, I guess we don't want to take a chance of sacrificing our friendship. But it's truly a strong friendship. I don't think it would be sacrificed. Well, and there are also I mean, that that also depends on your friend also. I mean, and they're also, you know, you you'll develop a best friend where that would never crossed your mind, you know? Yeah, right. Craig and I it just dating is no, I mean, we've had, we've had several discussions on it, mainly, because every time Craig and I go out, we get mistaken for a married couple, we've even been mistaken for being twins. Ronnie, well, you know what, you know, twins, it's just the way, you know, a lot of times you can get almost that same quality of relationship and a friendship. You know, Craig and I speak almost at least once almost every day, you know, we go out and do things together all the time. You know, we talk about each other as we instead of Craig and I, or Scott and I don't you think the difference? I mean, ever, we all have strong friendships with people that we don't ever give up. But when you when it comes to lovers, it's a friendship with intimacy mixed in, not necessarily sex all the time, but an intimacy?

∅ 05:57

∅ 06:50

07:05

Well, but I mean, even with your really close friends, you know, the intimacy can be there, you know, being able to Yeah, you're being able to say, I mean, because one of the things that intimacy is for me is to be able to say anything to be able to have someone come up to you is, you know, spill their guts that they have done something so awfully wrong. And instead of immediately sending judgment upon them, you sit there and listen to their problems. You know, being non judgmental, being able to be completely open about what's going on in your life.

07:38

And in gay and lesbian relationships. I mean, there's a there's a high level of intimacy, because I mean, I mean, most well, and a lot of across a lot of the friendships I

07:45

07:46

say, Yeah, okay, sexual intimacy, sexual. Friendships are great, but they don't get it up.

Jason 07:56

And no, but you know, quite frankly, I mean, I think we all have friends that we are sexually attracted to. I mean, I'm not, I've got a good portion of my friends who I was, was or am sexually attracted to, in one way or another. Not saying, you know, it's probably about 30, or 40%. of the people that I know, on a friendship level, I've thought about, you know, at one point in time, whether it be before I became friends with them or not, I've thought about them in a sexual way.

08:29

Well, that's also part of the, especially as in Japanese crack the way I see it, especially as gay men. You know, one of the reasons that you make friends with some of you, some of the people you know, is because you were attracted them from the get go, yeah, that happened with my best friend. I mean, I, you know, when I first met him, I was, you know, I fell in love with this person. And, I mean, I'm glad that we didn't date we never dated. And I'm glad we didn't, because I realized that it would have never worked, because we're too, we're way too, we have a lot in common. We have a lot that we don't have in common. And I mean, I'm really glad that, you know, that he turned me down. I'm kind of glad that we didn't take but you know, the one rejection you're happy to have. Exactly. Because, you know, I mean, I look at it now. And I say, you know, I look at how we were, you know, this past summer. And I mean, it was just like, we were joined at the hip. I mean, I know what you did last time. And, and it was that scary, too. And we just like, I look at it now and I and I mean our friendship now. And we still considered to their best friends. But it's just like, if somebody told me six months ago, that we'd be where we are now. I would have been like, No, I mean, we're like Siamese twins. But I mean, I can appreciate the fact that we didn't date and I'm glad that we didn't I think that would have ruined our friendship because it was so new. And I'm kind of glad that we did right.

08:43

 Jason 09:46

Yeah, at the same time. Your friendship with this person? Was was a very new friendship. It hadn't been tried. You know exactly. What I'm talking about is the ones who we are we've known for not even It's only a long time but we truly know do you form some sort of bond with your strong bond?

 10:02

 Jason 10:06

And that can be deceptive to you. You don't necessarily know when that bonds formed either.

 10:10

Well, another necessarily does do all of the people around you. I mean, a lot of times there's some bonds of friendship that get mistaken for everything else. My friend Dylan and I, we just have a lot of that sexual humor in the friendship and everybody thought we were going to be in bed within the first month that we started hanging out. And it's just it's part of the report.

 Jason 10:35

Okay, on we're going to take a couple little business breaks real quick.

J

Jason 11:25

alright for that I'm not clear. That would seem like my desk. This is scratched. Oops. And I like that CV.

♀

11:36

Are we okay, one more?

♀

11:39

One more. I'm there. On the air.

♀

11:44

On shorter wipe it up.

♀

11:48

I don't think he brought his trick towel with him.

♀

11:50

Oh, rowdy.

11:52

You leave me in Georgia alone. Okay.

♀

11:55

The dirties gross?

11:58

All right. So back to what we talked about friendships. That was friendship and sex. Is that what it was? I could never, ever, ever.

12:03

12:05

We talked about the whole, you know, exploring the relationship idea with friendships, but there are some situations where you end up having sex with someone who is and just stays your friend.

J Jason 12:20

And you know, that you've been in that situation to Scott, you've been in so many situations, I'm unfamiliar, that's happened to me.

12:26

Well, you know, I'm older, and have more years behind me. I also have more years out of the closet behind me than you do.

12:34

Well, that happened to me, I did that I had I met, I had sex with a friend. And everybody kept telling me well, if you do it, it's gonna be awkward. You know, I know this person, yada, yada yada blah, blah, blah. And, and, you know, I kept thinking, Well, you know, what, not what happened. And it didn't, it didn't. I mean, we had sex. And I saw the person again, like two days later, and nothing was different. Our friends, it was just the same. And we joke about it every now and then it's a real subtle joke. Like, he'll say something. I'll be like, okay, whatever. And I mean, but we've kept our friendship. And that's really, really, really cool. So I think that some so it can happen sometimes it didn't happen very often, but sometimes it does. So anyway, so who's going to talk now, so we need to keep this going? I want to know. Do you want to know who it was? The dish and gossip dish? And 13:23

13:14

I know, I don't

13:24

I don't I don't give names? Unless it's nothing on the heat.

13:28

Oh, please. It's just because you want to be able to plaster it across your house.

13:32

Well, yeah, I was Skyrider that I would I was set up in Morse code everything. Oh, yeah. He's a badass. So anyway. So anyway, but um, so what now what's, what's the new topic now? What's going on? What are we doing?

13:51

All right. Patrick's news, chastity belt. I'm trying to 13:54

like keep it going here. And I don't know what's going on. I'm sorry. I'm like trying to queue up next.

13:58

Okay, I'll just take it out and put it in another city. Just keep trying another one till you figure it out.

14:05

Well, I think I figured, okay. I don't know. What do we want to talk about now?

14:11

I don't know. It's spring. Yeah, well, it is. Thanks for that news, Flash.

14:18

Spring Fever. You know, people going out getting laid.

Jason 14:22

Some of us suffer spring fever worse than others.

14:25

You know what? I

14:26

have somebody to suffer with.

14:29

I want to know nice. Who was 14:30

that? Who was that a stab

14:31

at? Exactly. It wasn't necessarily a stab Oh, you lie I know you've ever met it was a stab at somebody. Okay, fess up to it. Who was it that much anyway, which I guess I should have clarified and said some of us have one somebody to enjoy spring with.

Jason 14:35

14:39

14:48

I do. I know who that 14:51

oh, you to make me sick?

14:54

Well, you know. I've thought about inclusion that you know. I keep wondering you know. I've

...you know, I've thought about inclusion that you know, I keep wondering, you know, I've been on Night teen. And you know, I have been single all of my life. I've never had a boyfriend I dated one guy for a month and a half. And I keep wondering, you know what it is about me that I just can't seem to get a soul. Well, you know what blasting? What's the deal?

15:14

You know what Patrick, one of the secrets to that is realizing that maybe it's not you see, and I know that and I know that. But you know what? All of my friends and it's true. All of my friends except for a minority maybe are really good looking. Or there's something about them. They're all really really, really good looking. And I'm hanging out with them. And Baba blogland, you know, restaurants or whatnot or the club? Oh, who's your friend? Who's your friend? What about me? I'm standing here. I'm invisible. I know.

15:19

Jason 15:41

I told you about somebody who thought you were interesting last night or the other night?

15:45

I forget who that was.

15:46

So that's the shot. My problem is that people who are interested in me Yeah, I wouldn't consider not in a million 100 years. Probably that homeless guy on the end of the street he's talking about yes, but that's all I'll be able to get right about now. But I mean, you know, I just wanted to close and then I'm gonna start having a Hangout with just some fat, stinky nasty people who I know friends. Now that could all look at me and be like, it's me. It's all who is your friend? You know? That's what I need to do. So you know, that's just what I got to do that find these people got no personality.

15:54

16:13

You're just better because you didn't get your timeshare in the limelight? Condo?

16:16

i No, no. How do you like, though, on a serious note, how do you like how would you approach somebody? When you're shy? Like Patrick and myself are? What do you say are mean you just like Hi.

16:29

As being to go up to the more you are your lesbian? Oh, sure. Scared. Or if your name is Craig, you get someone named Scott to go first. And for you.

16:31

16:39

Hey, you know what? They're doing people's cars out there.

16:41

Jason's that's me several times. He's been like Patrick at the club. Go up there until like, I'm cute. No, I can't do that. My friend thinks you're cute. I just had that. Done one time that I was at a house of pies one night, it was like three in the morning. I was I think that guy's cute. I think it was Jeremy. As a matter of fact, he went there and told the guy and he goes that has so sixth grade that he had to coherent and tell me that and I was just like, oh, no, it was me. Was it you? It was me who was horrible. I was so embarrassed. I was just like, okay, so I guess we can't be doing that anymore. How embarrassing for will say anything when we're drunk.

17:08

17:10

They're not telling my car or they don't know what they're not telling Milo are they? Alright, I'll have to have a fit if they don't told you.

17:17

Okay, let's get off the towing. All right.

17:20

All right. Okay. Well, as far as you know, just a lot of going up. A lot of going up to somebody is like, not thinking about if they're going to say no, I mean, you know, you have to realize, yes. They may say no. But then again, you have to think yes, they may say yes. And just a rejection may help you learn, okay, now think of it this way. Okay. Now I'm guilty of, you know, I always send courier lesbian or courier friend, whatever.

J Jason 17:41

17:49

But isn't it a bit more impressive when you go up and tell them? Yes.

J Jason 17:52

And actually, I did that recently. I did do that recently. But it's just that it's very, I mean, especially coming from me somebody with extremely low self esteem. I mean, granted, yeah. You know, you'll, if the person says no, well, you don't know the person anyway, it's not really lost. But it's still easier to just have somebody else go up there for you and take the rejection for you than to go up there. And because you leave yourself so vulnerable, when you go up to somebody face to face, face to face is very difficult, because you really have to hear the person say, I'm not interested or you know, or we're not my type. It's just like, but where, or across the way. Yeah, you know, or whereas if you had a career lesbian who's a good friend, you know, she could water it down for you, which is probably not good for you to begin with. She just beat that guy hasn't like you go over there. The 18:40

18:20

18:31

18:37

only time I ever, ever accident, in fact, it was even unfortunately, an accident that I approached somebody that I liked. I was sitting at crossroads, and we all know where Crossroads is. And I'm sitting there and I said, the guy was, like, way down there by Hollywood. And I said, Oh, my God, that guy's fine. And I muttered something else that I don't. I didn't want to go there. So anyhow, I want you to know, this man jumped up his jeep walked right up to me in front of God, and everybody and I had shorts on. And by the way, I do shave my legs, and I'm very proud of that. All right, he says he looked at me, he says, I just want you to know, I heard you. And first of all, do you shave your legs? And I was like, yeah, and he said, Well, if I wanted a woman, I would be straight.

J Jason 19:35

I was so humiliated. You know? How do you respond? He was a jerk so what you know but I know easier said than done.

19:43

You know? When you need her there are those who could have told you he was a jerk before all that crap to that that's in respond by robbing the Kroger buying a carton of eggs and making his car Alright, take care of that. Oh, God. Oh, that's mature. Hey, at four in the morning is very mature and I'm making they have no witness. Yeah, so 20:01

19:49

I could give a care less about him. He's probably some cheap as cheap queen. So beep beep.

20:09

So, anyway, but I mean that never I mean, I, I don't know, I've never been, I don't know if I've ever been really ever rejected I don't know, I mean, like hardcore, like, ever had somebody go, you know, hey, you know, I just don't really want to have anything to do with you, you know, all that kind of happened last night, but that's beside the point.

20:26

But you know, I've just I'm coming to the point in my life to where, you know, I've worked really, really hard at getting what I want in life, which is my job and things and you know, I've lost a few things along the way, but it's time you know, I deserve better. I deserve somebody in my life who wants me for me. And you know, I'm tired of having to look for somebody. And you know, I know I'm not God's gift to all creation. And but I know I'm not ugly either. And I'm a really sweet person. So by God, somebody, somebody in this world is gonna like me, for me, and I think the biggest problem I have is, I'm Nelly.

21:03

Let's not believe me, hon. That is not a problem.

21:08

For me. One guy who wants another Nelly guy. Let me tell you, what's your boyfriend's name? Scott. David, let me tell you the most ultimate. The most ultimate rejection was when I was at a I was like, I'm someone I was sent at the bar. And I was trying to buy something like my coke or whatever. And this dude was standing there and he was so cute. And he felt like 2425 and I was talking to him blah, blah, blah yada yada yadi and there was a drag queen. We sat next to me he was a really pretty like, you know, wasn't flamboyant directly and just lino looks very feminine, and genuine and all that stuff. And I was talking to him, he made a comment about you know, it was like, Well, you know, I take your blah, blah, blah. I was like, oh, that's real nice. And he goes, but there's, I have her Let's go. And I was like, oh, no, he's left with a drag queen. I'm so upset. Now. I just lost that girl right there. I was so upset.

21:11

21:13

J Jason 21:54

Well, let me just say this, you don't know rejection until you're like, the amount of guys that you've hit on that are straight is like past 20. Okay, let's just say every time I ever hit on a guy, whether it be face to face Karela has been whatever. Generally, the answer is, I'm flattered, but I'm straight.

22:12

Well, and also we don't need to let this conversation diverge into a my penis is bigger rejection content. Exactly.

22:22

Sorry about that. The heck did this have to do is anybody's penis?

22:28

Well, you know, the whole testosterone mine? Worse?

22:32

Yeah, exactly. Yeah. Oh, I get.

22:35

But yeah, but I mean, I firmly believe I mean, people who, who live their life in fear of rejection of a relationship or whatnot, you know, I mean, rejection is a big part of life. And I mean, you're, you have to learn, you can't you can't build up walls and say, you know, I can't, well, I don't want to talk to this person. I'm having to I'm having to work on that a lot by saying, you know, why can't do that. Because I mean, rejection is a big part of, of your life, and you have to learn to take the good with the bad, and there's always gonna be times where your bad is a whole lot worse than your good is. But you know, it's still very hard for us to take rejection. Now. Anybody for anybody to hear the word? You know, essentially, what somebody's saying is, no, I don't want to spend any time with you, or I don't want to spend as much time you know, I want to spend more time with other people than you. Yeah, that's, you know, Rejection hurts. It's a fact of life and we don't like to deal with it. I don't like dealing with my theory is is becoming and I'm hoping to imply this to my heart also is, you know, there is nothing a man can do for me that I can't do so much better myself. You know, myself and I can make myself a living. I can support myself. You know, the only thing and heck, I got George George's two pillows. George sleeps with me every night George doesn't give me any grief.

Jason 23:02

23:21

23:48

And all you need to do to spice it up with him is to get a mirror and a bottle of whipped cream.

23:53

There you go. All righty. Oh, no. The fridge tonight. Oh, it wouldn't be bothering my fridge. Now. What? It doesn't have anything in it.

23:59

24:02

24:04

Oh, we are being bitter. No. It's just, it's always empty. That's a fact. Well, no, unless my friends are over with a bunch of alcohol. But we don't need to be promoting under a 24:16

24:08

24:13

shirt. Oh, no, of course not.

24:17

That's because when none of us are under age, okay. No, none of us drink because we are underage. But 24:23

Jason 24:21

good. Good. Good. Meanwhile, back

24:25

in Rio, I'm

24:26

glad I'm on the other side of the window of you. Because when lightning hits you anyway, so um, but I don't know. I mean, and, you know, I had a I had a, I guess I had, you know, what people might consider a boyfriend. I really didn't because it's never an actual, like, you actually sat down and said, hey, you know, let's date exclusively or whatnot. But, um, you know, and the hardest thing for me and what was really bad this was once I got kind of what I wanted. I didn't want it. You know, I was like, well, here's a great guy who you know is going to become a big problem. Yeah, and I mean, but I mean, I'm learning now and but there was there was more to it that just about the, you know, that was I have I don't want it I mean me this person, you know, we it's kind of like, you know, magnets to north on a track to South snow track medium just there was a lot of things that we didn't have in common. But, you know, once I had it, I was just kind of like, you know, I still kind of want to play the film, I still kind of want to go out and meet other people know that, you know, if I meet somebody, I can still go on a date with them and not feel guilty. What is it that you're attracted to? are the ones that are worse for you? Yeah.

24:31

25:18

25:23

Well, but another thing you know, you were talking about, you know, being too different. You know, you can be too different, but you can on the opposite side be too similar. You know, if you date someone who's just like you, you're either a gonna get bored really quickly or be Killam in the first month. Exactly. Because I have, I have dated at least one person who was very much like me, and let me tell you, that was a living hell, well, then, you know, but we were talking about this out the out in the lobby, or wherever this main room is out here that, um, you know, I really, I don't want somebody who I'm not gonna be able to argue with I want to be I don't want mainline knockdown drag out. Let's get a black guy kind of arguments. But I mean, you know, I don't want to be able to know that. Every time I see somebody, it's gonna be all lovey dovey the whole time. I want to argue because you mean you, you?

25:50

26:11

You you want to date somebody who's assertive and not a dog. Every time

26:15

you snap your fingers, you know, my, my very much.

26:18

Why Why? Why do you want a relationship where you're always arguing? It's fun.

26:21

No, no, no. I didn't say always arguing. I said, I want some of why can't argue because I mean, arguing. I mean, it releases stuff. And I mean, it gets things out in the open and I mean, arguments a good thing. It's not bad to release thing. Exactly. And my best friend, my best friend, Aubrey hurt, you know, her and her girlfriend she's been with for a long time, you know, her girlfriend at a drop of a hat. You know, like, I'm, you know, I live out in Richmond, which is way out of nowhere, and they live out the middle of nowhere, there's no store near I want to Snickers and we're gonna hop on that car that down to the nearest store, which is 30 miles away to buy her stuff. And I was like, it's really fun and all but after a while, it's just like, I don't want somebody always at my beck and call and it gets boring after a while, you know, I want them to be like, No, I want to get to a Snickers. You know, I want to get that I want somebody who will do anything.

27:03

27:06

But you know, I don't want anybody to be a doormat, but my view on life is, you know, I've watched all of my friends go through it, but I would say 90% of it. My family like my mom, because she's just arguing and then eventually it goes into abuse. What's the point of arguing? Does it solve anything? No, one person has to lose. Why can't arguing does not settle any. Disagree? Yes. And communicating that disagreement is what settles that's, that's not arguing, no arguing when you start raising anyways. One thing not even screaming and throwing these but just even if you just raise your voice and somebody, one person gets the upper hand in one way or another exit another one, as opposed to the two people calmly discussing their disagreement, but I don't tell the difference. I don't feel that it's wrong. I don't feel that because I hate people who go arguments bad. No, it's not argument is a natural healthy thing. You should you should ...go arguments bad. No, it's not argument is a natural, healthy thing. You should you should argue every now and then you're going to need to argue it's called frustration. It's called tension. And you need to get that out. And you can't get it out by just saying, Oh, well, I have this disagreement with you. Now, sometimes you need to yell, so I'm going to yell and stomp around the house and slam some doors.

Jason 27:24

27:49

J Jason 28:12

I'm not saying all arguments are bad. But if you can avoid them, arguments are best to avoid. Granted, every relationship is going to have an end to end situation where they end up with arguments is but however, if you can avoid getting to the arguing point, and you can settle it before it reaches the arguing point. That's the ideal situation to handle your problem.

♂ 28:31

However, if I was dating someone that agreed with 100% of everything I said, I'd be really damn scared. I would turn tail and run exactly because I have I have dated selfmade doormat before. And it is ugly when you break up. Because it's not until a really big breakup fight hits that they really start asserting them. So you do see the arguing come along. On that note, it's about time for us to wrap up. So we're going to end on this one song. And then we're going to let Jimmy Jimmy go ahead and sign it. Why don't we close over it so we can get our phone number out once more. Yeah. And some station ID because I can see Jimmy wanting to know just one little thing when you're talking about arguing in a 20 year relationship. There's arguing that goes on and it depends on your mate you was with Stanley and I he gets very upset and nervous if I start screaming. So if there's something that I think we need to discuss, or have a you know what you call an argument about, I'll do it in a public place because I'm not going to scream in a restaurant. So that's where we do our arguing slash discussion. Yeah, it's learning how to do things like that in an arena where it's appropriate.

J Jason 28:53

♂ 29:00

♂ 29:09

♂ 29:47

J Jason 29:52

That's always a good idea. You've been listening about that. You haven't listened to hatch. It's a teenage support group. for queer and questioning youth, we have a voicemail Hotline at 713-942-7002
