Jason 00:02

Wow, okay, that was more Original Music by Tracy.

Tracy, why don't you tell us about that song?

00:07

Tell you about that song? Am I my own? Yeah, yes, you are? Well, let's see. I've known genesis for over a year now. And she almost fell in love there. I didn't, I was really close. And when we broke up, it really hurt me. And we went our separate ways for a while, and we became friends again. And she's just been a big influence in my life. And I really wanted to write a song about her to show her. That one, I love her. But to that she's influenced me in some sort of way. And I wrote a song for once, and I didn't like it. So I wrote that one then. And I really liked that one. And I just, I mean, it just, it's to her not to say, I love her to death. And I'm, I'm glad we went out because, you know, I learned something from her. And I learned something from the breakup. I'm not going to answer that question. And, and now, you know, we make better friends than we did, like a romantic couple. And it was a good phase in my life. So that's so cool. So now it's a different kind of love.

∅

01:14

Right? Exactly. It's that like, after you, it seems like after you are in a relationship with the person when you break up with them, like almost a deeper love forms, and the fact that you've conquered that relationship together, and you guys know so much about one another, and you can carry on just being friends. Right?

♂ 01:33

Do you find that in a situation like that, maybe now that the sexual part is away from it, that you can have a deeper emotional relationship? No,

♂ 01:46

I'm much more deeper emotional than I am at all sexual.

♂ 01:51

I find when I'm with someone, I can be way, way, way more emotionally deep with them than I can be with just friends about Guys. Guys.

♂ 01:57

♂ 02:01

Like me with guys?

♂ 02:05

Or with somebody? Right? And it's a sexual relationship, you break up and you remain friends? Do you find that it's a deeper emotional friendship? As a friend than when you were lovers?

♂ 02:20

Now, sometimes, yes. And sometimes no.

J Jason 02:24

I mean, I don't think any I don't exist is always part of a relationship. Because in my last relationship, it was not a sexual Yeah, not carried on to a sexual point yet. However, in my last sexual relationship, I was able to confide a lot emotionally with him while we were together. And then afterwards, after the breakup, you know, and then after we're talking again, and after the bitterness subsided, I'm still not very close to this person at all. But I think there's also because there's a world of difference between the two of us, we're just two totally different people.

03:01

I understand that. As far as emotions go, like after the breakup, there was just one guy that I dated last summer. Who, you know, I cared about him very deeply when we were dating. But, like, circumstances were like, not really in my favor. So I broke up with him. And that was a really bad thing for me. And I realized that I had loved him, you know, after the fact, which doesn't really do me any good. So that was kind of frustrating. I just thought I'd share what I think sad is like, after you go out with someone, you guys are broken up. It's like, so sad to see how you guys drift apart sometimes, and like change. And to like, just feel that you don't know this person. I mean, this person like used to be, you could confide your whole life and they were like your soulmate. I mean, it's so it seemed at the time, and now you can barely relate to them and just how your day goes. And that itself is heartbreaking to me. Like when I talk to someone I used to be with and it's like, I'm like, so what have you been up to? You know, I had I have no clue and I really don't care. And that's just like the worst, I think.

03:37

04:15

Do you ever find yourself displaying different behaviors in front of people that you broken up with?

04:23

Oh, obnoxiously like I got over you. Well, no, no, no, no, no, no, not necessarily. That would be 04:29

04:26

you. Been there, done that.

04:31

Been there, done that? Don't go there again. The T shirt. No. Do you ever find yourself when you're interacting with people? What?

J

Jason 04:43

swiveling back and forth? Stop it. Oh, my job very difficult.

04:47

Do you ever find yourself when you're interacting with people that you used to date, exhibiting different behaviors in front of them than you did when you dated them?

only interest to show I'm secure in the fact that the relationships over

05:04

I do not necessarily just to be a brat, but you know, I mean, that's all I've done. Are there are there different sides to your personality that you'll let out once that once, I guess sometimes the stress of the relationship is over,

♀

05:17

I completely agree with what you're saying, I do that I do that Fanjul.

05:20

And put you guys only went out for two months. I mean, see, my relationships have all been pretty long. And so within that long period, they've seen all sides of my personality. So it's like, I don't know,

♀

05:33

Well, that depends on

05:34

my worst breakups were, whenever I didn't really know the person very well, before we started going out. And that really had to do with Angela. And I mean, some some things when I'm when I'm going out, it's been mentioned so many times. When I'm going out with her, she was getting to know me at the same time, because we didn't know each other beforehand. So, you know, after the breakup, like, right, after two months of being friends, you know, I can after, you know, the little period of time where I needed my time. I mean, I can show more of myself now because she's still getting to know me. There's just always something about you, I think that people can learn, there's always something left. Because you're growing,

06:13

right? Well, you never, you never stopped growing, or you never stopped changing, right?

06:20

Yeah, but what do you do when your relationship has gotten to a point where you pretty much know everything? And it's not exciting?

06:31

Exciting? Yeah.

06:32

I know, then you might you might have. And you might just be friends, and you need to respect your feelings enough. And say, you know, hey, we're just friends and

06:46 excitement is gone, then that if 06:48

you're like, 60, or 70, just go Oh, what happened? Oh, wow. is sort of the, I guess what you've called feeling out of love, or the excitement disappearing? Would that be the same as just getting comfortable with someone or, you know, what happens when all of a sudden you're just comfortable when there's not necessarily always just the big huge, you know, bright spark powering everything? Once everything becomes more like, you know, oh, you know, then I don't think the love would be gone. I think you feel the same. Yeah, that you felt in the beginning whether the excitement quote unquote, is there or not? I said, quote, unquote, no, I always do that. But like, Okay, you're talking about just being comfortable with them?

06:50

07:18

07:29

07:31

Well, there's a certain point at which I mean, not necessarily comfortable, just sort of, you know, being yourself around them. But I mean, once it becomes, once it gets to a point where it's like, you know, this is something I've had for a while this is something that I'm used to this was expected, right? And when he explained it, it seemed like he was more like it. Yeah, like, Okay, hi again, you know, but when you're saying it, like, you're like, when you've grown to know them, it seems more like carrying it. Well. It's like, you know, when you walk into your closet and UCs, you know, you're like, Okay, that's a shirt that I've seen here for a long time, but it's good that it's there. I still like the shirt.

07:45

07:57

08:11

I'm not gonna throw it out or anything.

Jason 08:13

Station identification. So

08:16

the sound of Texas KPFT Houston, have a silica radio network station. 90.1 FM 89.1k EOS College Station.

J

Jason 08:27

Okay. So it's all it's professional sounding and everything. I just hate having incredibly Butch voice there. Yeah,

♀

08:32

J

Jason 08:36

but since we did that, we must go into some territory. It wasn't five. Okay. This is love you more by sunscreen. Oh, going into its own okay, I thought that was a good time to be back. Yes.

♀

08:56

I liked that song. Listen to that song.

♀

08:57

Sound on screen. Wait, is

08:59

that the same people that do like that one sunshine song? No. I love that song. That is my son. You know which one I'm talking about. That's, oh, no. Different styles.

♀

breakup, breakups, breakups.

♀

09:23

They're so fun. I plan my schedule and my breakups. I've had good breakups.

♀

09:26

♀

09:30

Have you guys ever like been so insensitive to your relationship where you've like, kind of planned it out? I've like planned out the music.

⌚ 09:38

Oh, no, I do that during the relationship.

⌚ 09:43

Usually the breakup tends to run away from me when it's happening. I'm just kind of like, okay, and then you find yourself improvising, trying to find things to say. I hate that.

⌚ 09:54

I know. It's also awkward, but your first kiss happened. Sorry.

⌚ 09:58

Do you like blame it on yourself? All you know, like, I'm so messed up in the head right now I just can't handle this relationship. So if anyone hears that ⌚ 10:05

I'm not really relationship cuz she's cuter

⌚ 10:12

I have so much crap to tell people

⌚ 10:15

my uncle died and so it's an enabling me to like start a relationship.

⌚ 10:20

I'm just so stressed out like by ⌚ 10:23

girls come up with the best. You guys like he's so much cuter it's not always that simple sometimes, you know, it's like,

10:29

10:32

he has a penis. You don't 10:38

Oh, no. Okay, I didn't count on the lesbians to get disgusting here.

10:44

Oh, that's a rarity. Y'all can't do it on your own or something.

10:48

No, we usually do it on our own. Just, you know, not always being disgusting.

10:53

Go ahead breakups. breakups. breakups, breakups.

11:02

Tracy cutely kisses her picture, MEGAN Oh, shut up. That's just financial pause unit. So cute. Okay, I'm embarrassed now.

11:13

Back on topic. Yeah.

Jason 11:19

Obviously, we know why I picked this topic.

11:23

We're just proud of someone he needed to work something out on the air.

11:27

And what would that be?

11:28

His breakup? dipshit.

11:32

I'm hurt. My Oh, my.

11:40

racy. Anyway, we had this language discussions.

11:48

Yes. What did you need to fix?

11:49

Well, because breakups don't just happen to older people. They happen to younger people, too. And I think older people maybe with a little bit more experience handle things differently. And so I think it's a good idea to hear how young people handle it.

Jason 12:12

Not very well.

12:15

Well, sometimes we handle it well, I think that's oppression. Some people can handle breakups very well.

12:17

J

Jason 12:20

Yeah, it all depends on the situation and the people like, like, I've told my friends, it's not because I'm a man and because I'm scum, but I have an easier time breaking up with somebody if I've had sex with them in the relationship. I mean, I know that sounds really crude, but

♂

12:41

Jimmy shakes his head

♂

12:43

he's got this look of disbelief like

♂

12:47

I don't know what I'm doing

J

Jason 12:48

to an extent it's you know, cuz in my mind, I hold this person as you know, this perfect being okay. And then after you know, you have sex with them, then you've gone on to a different level with them. And so I'm not saying that you know, just because I have sex with somebody I'm ready to break them up with them. But if I haven't had sex with them, then they're still held up about on up on this pedestal way above me. You know, and I haven't known have sex with the problem to begin with. Thank you. pedestals. pedestals are a bad thing. I mean, even if you both hold each other on a pedestal, it's still a bad thing, because why somebody has to fall. Well, because there's all that space in between the two pedestals and if you hold someone up on a pedestal, you're not really seeing them for who they are.

J

Jason 13:41

I got an allanon for a reason, dear.

♂

13:43

Whatever, you're putting them on a pedestal for who they are.

13:47

It's kind of hard to do that because putting them on a pedestal is kind of idealizing them and idolizing them and they have no room to be a real person. If you've got them way up here. When you find out that they have faults like real people that you don't know let's face it, we all have. We all put people up on pedestals. Every single one of us when we get into a when we first get into a relationship, it's called lust. Okay.

13:57

J Jason 14:01

14:14

There's a difference between I think, love and putting on pedestals. I think when putting on Panisse putting on pedestals is kind of like taking your masturbation fantasy and trying to make it real life doesn't work.

14:32

Masturbation and breakups have nothing to do at work. I don't agree at all. I want to talk about that last thing that you said I don't go with go out with people over lust I go out with them because I think they I have this this thing in my mind you have to get to my head before you can ever get to my body's not

J Jason 14:50

lust is not strictly a physical 14:53

thing. Well, what is less I'm 14:55

talking, I'm talking about when when you say less, I'm talking about that sexual thing. thing that goes onto your mind that I can't get to that unless you you've turned me on like mentally with like emotions and stutters

J

Jason 15:06

there is mental and physical and emotional lust, there's less on all different levels. You can lust after me after being, you know, if you enjoy somebody's companionship, you can lust after that companionship, not because they're beautiful and not because you want to have sex with them, just because you enjoy them being around last year, their conversation last basically, is I want you around because I want something you have and it doesn't necessarily have to be what is or isn't between their legs.

♀

15:27

J

Jason 15:37

And let's face it, lust is a beginning stage of a relationship. It's the beginning, there's a there's a certain amount, I don't agree there's a certain amount of basic attraction. That is there's a certain amount of based attraction that you have to have with someone. Well, you don't necessarily have to call it physical attraction. You're never gonna, you're never gonna get to know that person.

15:42

♀

15:56

16:00

I just don't consider it luck. I agree. There's there's a physical attraction. That's what draws you to somebody. I completely agree, but I don't consider it lust.

♀

16:07

Okay, okay. That's what do you call it? physical attraction, physical attraction. There you go last. You can call it last if you want, but it's not less to me.

16:11

o

...

16:17

Now we're finding out there's a difference between men and women.

16:22

You're kidding your hair on the chest and 16:29

Oh, okay. We're stopping. We're stuck. You know, even though I'm a man, I still don't understand men. Or I don't understand gay men. They're flighty. They are no comma.

J Jason 16:31

16:37

J Jason 16:46

I think Jimmy is so he's gonna go over into the other room and start getting ready to get chemo is this what people have been requesting for months and months?

16:51

16:54

This is the one with Tom Robinson's version of Noel Coward song mad about the boy and you're gonna be hearing it as soon as I can run back to the production room and turn it on, right?

17:07

17:10

Yes. Notice they call it the gay community, not the gay and lesbian community.

17:15

Why do we have to make a separation between gay and lesbian?

17:18

Gotta be yours. Why can't you be listening?

17:26

Well, that was fantastic. And we're discovering men are pigs. I knew we were getting into this discussion. Y'all make me so angry sometimes. You were so attracted to anything that has no clothes on. Luke? No, no, no, it has to be pretty with or without the clothes not

17:33

17:41

Jason 17:44

anything those boys and those ads were not anything and 17:47

that's why gay men and straight men are very much alike.

17:51

And yes, we are sort of

Jason 17:56

those we're not just regular man. Those were models there's a difference now like a 300 pound man without clothes on would not be attractive is just not pretty? Okay

10.10

18:10

it's helpful politically correct, but I still think you would look at things skin. Oh, gross. Only on a girl. Do you do that with women? No, I do not. I like

18:11

J Jason 18:21

you cringe when and that's just because 18:24

that's just because she's still on that. Idealistic you know, love they you know, she'll get over that and as soon as she starts setting about 3035 is when women start hitting their sexual peak and then you'll see like Tracy going out and just going there's nothing wrong with being idealistic.

18:42

18:44

Well, Megan be legal then shut up.

18:46

Oh, you just said that. I'm really mad at you. So rude. That was that was beyond. Oh, okay.

18:55

Anyway, back to the topic conversation, just to show that gay men and lesbians should not get into the man or pigs discussion. Because the lesbians usually end up getting each other on that. It says nothing in the world to do with men are pigs if you ask my nothing. That was. That was a rude comment. Rude.

19:11

19:19

That was my bad I apologize.

19:21

Okay. Now that we're back to a sort of bitter, somber discussion, I guess we can get back into the cup.

19:27

I want to say something more. Oh, don't worry. I'm not talking to you. No, I think that I meant well, you know, we've been talking about breakups with sexual relationships. I think there are breakups with friendship relationships, which I'm about to do with this. Oh, I had a best friend for well, you know, we just hit our fifth year anniversary but after four years, I was a monster but we never ever ever went out. There was nothing sexual between us. But I realized that she wasn't good for me. And you know, I was a worst person being around her, and I quote broke up with her. And we ended our friendship. I just think they're like, No, I just think there are different kinds of breakups. I mean, you don't have to be in a sexual relationship with someone to can send her to break up. I guess it just makes it more complex and interesting. That way. You can stop apologizing often, like we've gotten over that. Yeah, no, she hasn't. You know,

20:14

20:24

20:25

I haven't. But that's okay. Because Tracy is professional enough to keep it off the radio from now. But I gotta give her a ride home. So I don't want to be 20:36

20:31

around people who are having to give other people rides home and they don't need to hear about it either

20:42

I'm not talking about I don't know why. breakups, breakups, it's okay.

20:49

But I do think breakups can happen anywhere. You know, Okay, nevermind, give me positive events, like completely, 20:57

they can. Sorta,

20:59

like, I'm serious, like, I mean, you could just be in completely.

21:06

Okay, where did that thought go?

21:09

I'm still feeling so guilty. Just, I mean, like, you could be in a relationship, and it's just going so bad, but you both are feeling, you know, too awkward to like, break up with one another because you still don't know each other. Right? And it's like, whoever, like, gets the courage. And it's whoever gets the courage to break up with them. I mean, it could be like a completely like relieving and positive experience where you're like, oh, okay, we don't have God anymore. Oh, yeah. There we go. Well, speaking of that, that sort of just happened to me, because I'm sort of going off to school in about a month or so. So I'd really don't want to get all that attached to somebody. But I was dating this guy for like, a little bit. But I didn't know like, what was going on. Like, I didn't know what he was feeling. I didn't know. You know where it was going. And so we kind of broke up, but we weren't like, actually, like, seriously dating or anything. But yeah, that was a good thing, though. Because you know, now I don't have to worry about being tied down when I go to school.

21:34

22:10

For you, Tara. Yes. Such a big, 22:12

I'm such a what a big house,

J Jason 22:16

worrying about not being tied down when you go to school.

22:18

That way he can play with other pretty frat boys when he gets there.

22:22

I have not dated anybody all summer. And when I get to Denton out, it's on. It is so on. And, and I'm looking forward to that.

22:29

You know, what do you hate to say? So apparently turned off the sexual thing until it gets to Denton to what do you hate?

22:36

I hate it when you're sorry. No, it's okay. Okay, I hate it when you're not even with someone. And you know, you're not really even dating them. You saw them maybe once, you know, nothing even happened between you. And then they go off telling people that you were together, maybe something happened, and then y'all broke up. I'm like, we never broke up because we were never together. I hate that. I really hate that that's happened to me twice in the past four months. It's frustrating.

23:06

Five, maybe it's just like a different definition of being together. Because like the guy was just talking about, you know, we weren't like, together together. But you know, we were sort of kind of seeing each other. I have nothing like concrete.

23:21

That's why I think communication is very important. It is always very important. And that's why we communicate my opinion on the subject. No, we're not together, you know? No, I don't consider you my girlfriend. That's what I would tell them. I don't and I don't consider us together. And obviously they did. And then they go telling people never mind. I always try to make sure that the person who I think I'm dating knows that we are dating. usually a good idea, generally.

23:22

23:25

J Jason 23:40

23:49

How does one do that? Jason? Just out of curiosity?

J Jason 23:53

Well, usually somebody expresses an interest initially. And then y'all like, just take it from there and discuss these things and make sure y'all are on the same page. I know that when James and I were dating, we discussed several times that we were on the same page until it turned out that we weren't on the same page and found that you needed to buy a new book. Yep. Thanks. Smells. Good. Thank you.

24:11

24:17

Well, Paige's book gets it, right. It's just a matter of talking. I mean, I'm more of a magazine.

J Jason 24:19

⌚ 24:21
As long as ⌚ 24:22

they women can be pigs. Moving on, as long as

J Jason 24:27
you can, as long as you can talk, and you're gonna listen. As long as you can talk and you can listen, then you can make sure that you're on the same page.

⌚ 24:35
But there's always that awkwardness though. Like whether it comes to like, getting together or breaking up.

J Jason 24:40
Well, yeah, there's an awkwardness but that's life. Yeah,

⌚ 24:44
there's an awkwardness after breaking up. I saw my ex tonight.

J Jason 24:48
That was freaky. I saw my ex tonight too. And last night, and well, my situation was a little different. Candace and I were we went out to eat at Charlie's and we sat down and I saw this girl so that when I started going out with my ex girlfriend, Tiffany, I saw this girl there who kind of wanted to break us up and gave me these awful looks and always wanted to kick my booty. And, and I saw her there that night tonight. And I was like, Whoa, there's a girl, you know, she still hates me after two years. And then all of a sudden Tiffany walks by. So I just had this big confrontation in my face with like, my ex, and then it was really weird. It was it was uncomfortable because you know, we don't talk very much anymore. But that's not by my choice. But it can still be uncomfortable. Whether you you know, want to be friends or not. It's still hard sometimes. I'm done. That was fair.

⌚ 24:53

J

Jason 25:44

We've got to start wrapping things up here. Oh, yeah. Megan. You've been listening to hatch. If you'd like to have any questions about hatch or if you would like to become a member dial 713-942-7002 That is a voicemail line and is returned to confidentially.

26:06

Go ahead, okay. Okay. And there's a webpage even though it's not really kept up you can still kind of get more information on hat and that would be WWW dot hatch youth. That's one word.org o RG you should check it out. It's really cool.

J

Jason 26:22

Okay. And we are done with our segment. Thank you by the way to pick you up we'll be back on on the first Saturday of the month doing hash music dish and dish

∅

26:36

J

Jason 26:39

maybe I'll have some new dish by then maybe we'll know how things go with Todd

∅

26:46

Why do you guys make that noise?

26:48

I want to say to anyone who has to break up with someone or is going to be broken up with a good call. And I wish everyone out there good luck and all the relationships because they make the world go round love.

∅

27:01

Good luck to all those meeting their future exes tonight.

∅
